

Merchants Display Much Optimism at Holiday Prospects

Early Shoppers Indicate One of Best Seasons for Retail Trade, Is Local Report

Stocks Are Large

Purchasers Also Are Giving Attention to Merchandise of Better Class

A survey of a number of the up-town Kingston stores this morning and queries as to business and prospective holiday trade brought universally optimistic replies.

With the prevailing fine weather and with most of the stores already fully prepared to care for the Christmas shopper, window displays in most cases being completed and the new merchandise on counters in attractive array, shoppers already have made their appearance in considerable numbers.

One merchant, who said that he was carrying by far the largest stock he had ever carried, reported an unusually fine trade last Saturday. He also said that shoppers this year were purchasing the better grades of merchandise, this being noticeably true in the case of a young man.

Another business man made much the same reply and referred especially to the fine trade he had Tuesday of this week.

A number of those seen stated that they were carrying much larger stocks than a year ago—one merchant said that the increase would amount to thousands of dollars, and all declared that they were looking forward to a better than usual holiday season.

Considerable Misunderstanding

Queried as to whether the change in the observance of Thanksgiving Day had tended to earlier shopping, one Wall street man remarked that there had been considerable misunderstanding in that respect. As a matter of fact, he said, moving the Thanksgiving date back a week this year brought it to within one day of the date of its observance last year, which occurred on November 24. Thus the holiday shopping which is starting in now is coming at almost exactly the same time it did a year ago.

Comment was made that those who are visiting Kingston stores now are having a great advantage over those who put off their shopping until later. Not only are they finding the traveling highly enjoyable because of the unusually fine weather, but they are getting the "pick" of the exceptionally large and attractive stocks of merchandise being placed on display, with assortments and sizes complete and chances of being disappointed in finding exactly the article wanted at a minimum. Then, too, coming before the holiday "rush" really gets started, they are enabled to shop in comfort, take their time looking around and get service and attention that would be impossible later when stores are crowded and attendants are put to their wits end to meet the demands upon them.

Local stores this week are also receiving the benefit of some $341,000 in Christmas Club checks sent out by the local banks. These checks were sent out on Saturday and already recipients have been exchanging them for articles to be laid away for Santa Claus time.

Beginning Monday, December 18, Kingston stores will remain open nights till 9:30, in order to accommodate the holiday shoppers.

Meanwhile the wise shopper will get busy and do his or her trading before the last-minute rush gets under way, when it may be a matter of taking "what's left."

Unexpected Holiday

Pupils and teachers at School No. 8 had an unexpected half holiday this morning due to lack of heat in the building. When Principal Raymond H. Rignall arrived at the school at 8 o'clock he found that a pipe from the boiler had burst. At 9:30 o'clock the temperature in the building was 59 and school was dismissed. The necessary repairs were made during the morning and school was resumed at 1 o'clock.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—The position of the treasury November 27: Receipts $14,266,519.85. Expenditures $48,175,886.95. Net balance $2,185,884,634.68. Working balance included $1,483,020,261.02. Customs receipts for month $25,387,475.25. Receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $2,145,473,133.97. Expenditures $3,221,244,659.27. ## Good for 200 Years

Boston, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—It was disclosed today that when the U.S. Government's Antarctic expedition was ready to depart from Boston last week, Admiral Byrd discovered there were no calendars among the supplies. One was obtained. It's good for 200 years—just in case.

Industrial Committee To Decide on Methods

Kingston's industrial committee will hold an important meeting on Tuesday evening, December 5, in the city hall court room to discuss the industrial situation in the city and ascertain, if possible, what steps may be taken to locate industrial plants here.

This meeting is of vital importance to every resident of the city, and all who are interested in the welfare of Kingston are urged to attend and present their ideas.

The committee has announced that what the city lacks at the present time is industrial space that can be utilized for factory space. There has been some talk of launching a campaign to raise funds to erect a factory building in the city.

Three Men Fined $250 On Policy Slip Charge

Thomas, Davis, Bonaparte Are Given Fines by Judge in Lieu of Jail Sentences

Three defendants, charged with possession of policy slips, were fined $250 each by Judge George C. Inman, Columbia county judge, who held a brief session of county court at noon today.

Judge Inman in imposing fines instead of jail sentences said that he was prompted to do so in the face of a decision of the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, which had but recently ruled in a Columbia county case that defendants charged with assault had been given too severe sentences and reduced the sentence in those cases to 14 days in jail.

Judge Inman said that while he agreed with the district attorney that probably jail sentences should be imposed in policy slip cases, still he believed that in the face of the decision which he quoted, that the court might find jail sentences too severe in policy slip cases and he therefore imposed fines.

Jail or Cash

In lieu of the fines he ruled that the defendants should serve one day in jail for each $5 of the fine unpaid and he suspended execution of the sentences until December 20 in order that the defendants might get together the money. In each case he said that if the defendants again came before him on policy slip charges he would impose jail terms despite the Appellate Division's view on excessive sentences.

Jesse Davis of 31 East Union street, negro, pleaded guilty to possession of policy slips, a charge which he had previously pleaded not guilty to. He waived the two days' grace and was sentenced immediately. He said he had been convicted on a prior occasion of the same charge and also assault. N. LeVan Haven appeared for Davis, who said he had been born on a sailboat in Florida waters. Napoleon Bonaparte of Hasbrouck avenue, also negro, whom the judge remarked held a "very distinguished name," also changed his former not guilty plea to one of guilty to possession of policy slips. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for him. He waived the two day grace period and was sentenced. His fine was $250 and the same terms as to payment was made. Judge Inman said he was in full sympathy with District Attorney Cleon B. Murray regarding jail sentences in policy slip cases and his desire to stamp out "this vicious practice which takes pennies and nickels from the poor" but stated that he would impose a fine now. He said a jail sentence would be imposed if the defendant ever came before him again on the same charge. Napoleon has until December 20 to get his money together.

Thomas Also Fined

Cleveland Thomas of East Union street, also charged with possession of policy slips, was represented by N. LeVan Haven, and he

Divorcee Is Killed In 17-Story Fall In New York City

Mrs. Adelaide Tate, 38, Sent Cryptic Wires to Oil Engineer; Had Apartment Key

New York, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—Mrs. Adelaide Tate, 38, a divorcee, fell to her death today from the 17th floor Greenwich Village apartment of a man to whom she had directed three cryptic telegrams.

Mrs. Tate lived in a Riverside Drive apartment where another tenant, Mrs. Helen Van Valkenburg, described her as the former wife of a West Point graduate, now in the oil business in the south. Mrs. Van Valkenburg also said Mrs. Tate had two children, a son, Albert, a government employee in Washington, D. C., and a daughter, Louise, a student at Louisiana State University.

The owner of the apartment, Ago Skiolvig, a chemical engineer employed by the Shell Oil Co., said he had known Mrs. Tate about two years. He said she had a key to his apartment and had frequently run up telephone bills there.

Was in Middle West. He was in the middle west on business, he said, when he received a series of telegrams addressed to him at Cleveland and St. Louis, all charged to his telephone. When he returned today, he told detectives, he rebuked Mrs. Tate and she went into the bath room. A short time later, he said, he opened the door and found the room empty and the window open.

The first telegram to Skiolvig read: "Even a rattlesnake rattles

Wan Patient Found To Be Dixie Davis; Ill at Albuquerque

Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 29 (U.P.)—A wan patient in an Albuquerque hospital was identified today as J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, ebullient one-time "kid mouthpiece" of Broadway. He is suffering from a serious intestinal ailment.

With him was his red-haired wife, who signed the hospital register as Rose Buxton—the maiden name of lovely Hope Dare. New York show girl who married Davis after his release this fall from prison.

Davis, attorney for the slain Dutch Schultz, New York gangster, served a six months sentence after turning state's witness in Thomas E. Dewey's smashing of the policy racket in New York city. He was freed in September.

Withdrawal of Finnish Troops Gives Renewed Hope for Peaceful Outcome Of Disagreement, Is Moscow's Report

British Fighters Down Nazi Plane Intent Upon Raid

Lifeboat Sent to Search for Survivors, but None Is Found; Another Anglo Steamer Sunk

Report Is Denied

Air Ministry Denies Nazis' Story Their Planes Flew Over Holland

London, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—An air battle between British combat planes and a lone German raider over the northeast coast of England today resulted in bringing down the Nazi plane at sea, a British announcement said.

British fighters rose to meet the raider when it was sighted approaching the Northumberland coast.

Coastal residents lining the shore watched the battle. After the invader fell a lifeboat was unable to find a trace of the plane's occupants.

Another British steamer, the 1,023-ton Rubislaw, was added to the list of mine victims off the British coast. The Rubislaw sank yesterday two minutes after striking an explosive. Four injured survivors were rescued by a minesweeper and 13 others were reported killed.

Cryptic radio instructions from the admiralty put British warships on the alert for the scheduled start of a new total blockade against Germany Monday.

The air ministry, meanwhile, reiterated that all its planes had returned safely after machine-gunning three mine-laying seaplanes yesterday at Borkum, an island base off the northwestern coast of Germany.

Statement Is Denied

"There is no truth whatever in the German statement that our aircraft flew over Holland," said the ministry.

The German official news agency DNB said one British plane was forced down and probably lost in the North Sea, and that another flew over The Netherlands to avoid the sea.

Fighting planes took to the air today as anti-aircraft batteries along the Thames estuary began firing, but it was learned later the shooting was not due to a German raid, and no alarm was sounded.

The mining of British waters, with numerous recent shipping losses resulting, was blamed by Britain for the decision to blockade German exports as well as imports.

In conjunction with France, the royal navy was instructed to remove from any ship cargoes of German origin or ownership. Heretofore, the blockade has been aimed only at goods destined for Germany.

The starting date of the export ban was set for Monday to permit neutral readjustments. It was understood that goods bought in Germany before November 27 would be exempt, even though not yet at sea.

Water in Drips Will Show 'Em, Mayor Says

Peabody, Mass., Nov. 29 (U.P.)—Peabody residents who are delinquent in payment of their water bills are going to get some tantalizing punishment. Mayor Joseph B. O'Keefe said that all persons who are behind in their payments and who offer no plan for settling up will get their water in drips until the bills are paid.

Water department officials will install a check in the meters so that the water will not flow, but drip, from the faucets. It will take about three minutes to get a glass of water and in order to take a Saturday night bath the dripping will have to start about Friday morning.

Status of Milton Fire District Is Held as Doubtful

Some Persons Doubt That District Ever Received Proper Authority in Printed Records

Since the fatal accident on June 18 when the Milton fire truck driven by Fire Chief Frederick J. Thiel crashed south of the village of Milton resulting in the death of Anthony Fanizzi, Milton grill proprietor, and Clarence Alsford of Milton, who were riding on the truck, there has been considerable talk as to the status of the Milton Fire District.

The fact that Chief Thiel is now under indictment on two charges of criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle resulting in death, and civil proceedings are pending in Supreme Court for damages against the fire district, has brought the question of organization of the fire district into frequent discussions.

Question of Authorization. There is a question in the minds of many as to whether the Milton Fire District ever was authorized in the customary manner.

Some people have argued that the notice of organization should have appeared in the Board of Supervisors' proceedings and that the first reference made to the Milton Fire District is in 1915 when an appropriation of $150 was made for maintenance of the district on motion of Supervisor C. Meach Woolsey of the town of Marlborough.

Apparently the first appropriation for maintenance of the Milton Fire District was in 1915 at the annual session, but special fire districts are not created by any act of the Board of Supervisors but are created by petition of taxpayers of the proposed district and on action of the town board of the town or towns in which the district is proposed to be formed and on approval of the court. Once formed the fire district operates under its own commissioners who are elected, and the Board of Supervisors usually authorized the levy of a "special district" tax on property in the district for the maintenance of the fire district.

Search of Records

Investigation of records discloses that on February 27, 1913, Milton Engine Company, No. 1, was formed and the certificate of incorporation was approved on March 5, 1913, by Supreme Court Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck. There appear on the corporation papers the names of C. J. Miller, Isaac S. Ferguson and Jeremiah A. Driscoll.

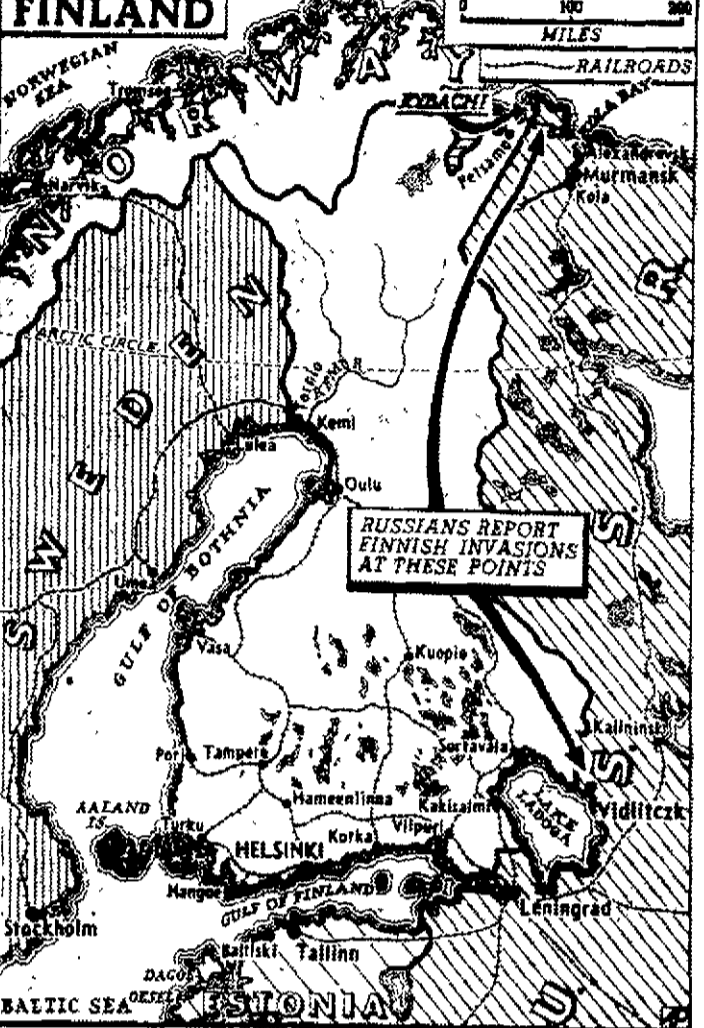

A close inspection of the records at the county clerk's office discloses that the next matter pertaining to the Milton firemen's movement on record there was in 1921, when a map made that year was filed on October 25, 1921, as Map No. 628. This map is one of the Milton Village Fire District and outlines the area to be included in the district. This district is an area within a radius of two miles from the fire house and covers roughly that area northerly along the main highway to the Thomas McManus property and southerly from Milton to about the R. Conn & Son place. It extends westerly from the river two miles from the engine house.

On July 24, 1939, Map No. 1340, a revised map of the district, was filed. This map, made in 1939, is a duplicate of the original map except that it had newer highways outlined upon it but the two mile radius is still maintained.

Apparently the Milton Fire District was created shortly after the incorporation of the Milton Engine Company in 1913, but it appears

Borah, Wheeler Fight Special Defense Taxes

Both Senators Are of Opinion Such Levy Would Fall Upon 'Little Fellow' Unable to Pay

Washington, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—Senators Borah (R-Idaho) and Wheeler (D-Mont.) served notice today that they would oppose special taxes to pay for increased national defense costs.

Both senators said they felt that if any such taxes were proposed, they would be bound to fall on the "little fellow" who could least afford to pay them.

The problem of meeting the rising costs of national defense has been receiving President Roosevelt's principal attention in recent days. He said at Warm Springs, Ga., yesterday that normal and emergency defense expenditures would be separated in the budget from next year.

Into an "A" budget, he explained, would go ordinary expenses of the army and navy, and into a "B" budget would go approximately $500,000,000 of proposed expenditures which he said may be attributed to the European war.

Mr. Roosevelt said previously that these increased expenditures posed the question whether special taxes should be voted by congress to meet them. The alternative, he said, would be to borrow the money and increase the government's deficit.

Borah said he could not commit himself to any special tax until he

Palmer Changes Will Oversee Elmira

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 29 (U.P.)—Dr. Leo J. Palmer, superintendent of Walkkill prison since April, 1932, was named today superintendent of Elmira Reformatory to succeed Dr. Frank L. Christian, resigned, effective Friday.

Dr. Palmer was superintendent of Westfield State Farms at Bedford Hills from January, 1927 until his transfer to Walkkill. Dr. Christian announced his retirement two weeks ago due to disability resulting from injuries received August 19 when he was attacked by two inmates attempting to escape.

Republicans Say They Won't Let Roosevelt Rule on Short Campaign

Washington, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—Suggestions for deferring the 1940 political conventions and thereby shortening the presidential campaign found some favor in both parties today, but Republican leaders declared that they would not let President Roosevelt make the decision.

Although not espousing the idea at this time, the chief executive was described authoritatively at Warm Springs, Ga., yesterday as having discussed with recent visitors the advisability of putting off both Democratic and Republican conventions until July or August. They usually are held in June.

Economy was given as the reason by some proposing the delay. Others held that in these times of international crisis a campaign lasting from July to November would bore the country and get little results in the summer months.

Rep. Ditter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, asserted that such reasoning was an effort to subordinate domestic

News Comes After Soviet Announce More Border Clashes Arising From Frontier Crossing

Reserves Called

Pravda Says Reservists Are Mobilized to Train for Service

Moscow, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—Hopes of a peaceful settlement of the Russian-Finnish dispute increased today with receipt of reports that Finnish troops had been ordered withdrawn from the Russian border.

(Helsinki dispatches said Finnish border patrols had been withdrawn at some points to avoid clashes with the Russians.)

It was hoped the issue could be settled by negotiation, one official but well-informed Soviet source said, although Russia is already so far committed to acquisition of Finnish territory on the isthmus of Karelia, opposite Leningrad, that she was expected to insist on getting it.

This informed source said that Russia, despite the violence of the Soviet propaganda campaign attacking Finland, does not want war but rather a resumption of negotiations through which she could win concessions from the Finns.

Fresh Clashes

The reports of Finnish troop withdrawals came after the Soviet government had reported fresh border clashes in which the Red Army was said to have repulsed with machine-guns Finnish troops attempting to cross the frontier.

As a result of the reported clashes, in which Finnish artillery was accused of sending shells screaming across the border, new Russian troops were said to have been dispatched to reinforce frontier garrisons already estimated by observers at almost 1,000,000 men.

Reports from Helsinki indicated that Finland has approximately 400,000 men under arms—more than one-tenth of the nation's entire population.

At the same time, the Communist party newspaper Pravda disclosed that new classes of naval reservists had been called up for training and service in the Baltic fleet, which has been conducting maneuvers from bases recently obtained from Estonia and Latvia.

While the press made new attacks upon Finland, workers and soldiers staged mass meetings which adopted resolutions containing such fiery phrases as "it is time to exterminate the puny bug which dares to threaten the Soviet," and "the Red army will exterminate the bandits and give a lesson to the scoundrels."

Radio Reports

Coming on the heels of the Russian government's repudiation of the seven-year-old Soviet-Finnish non-aggression pact, radio reports of three new "border incidents" stirred feeling in Moscow to fever pitch.

In Helsinki, the Finnish government, calling the situation "most critical," denied the clashes and framed a new message for delivery to the Kremlin today.

Three Finns were captured in one of the clashes, the radio asserted, but there was no repetition of the casualties reported Sunday when, the Russians said, 13 Red soldiers were killed or wounded by Finnish cannon.

Foreign observers saw little cause for optimism in the note in which Premier Vyacheslav Molotov yesterday scrapped Russia's non-aggression pact with Finland. Molotov asserted that Finland's refusal to withdraw border garrisons as a guarantee against repetition of Sunday's alleged clash reflected the Helsinki government's "profound hostility toward the Soviet Union."

Rejects Suggestion

He rejected in uncompromising terms Finland's suggestion that the Red army simultaneously withdraw from the frontier, declaring that the Soviet troops "do not menace vital centers of Finland because they are removed from those centers for hundreds of kilometers."

On the other hand, he said "Finnish troops stationed 32 kilometers (20 miles) from Leningrad—a vital center to the U. S. S. R., counting 3,500,000 population—create an immediate threat to it."

(Finland's entire population, according to most recent figures, is about 3,364,000.)

Molotov said Finland had "systematically violated" the non-aggression pact and that Russia could not tolerate a one-sided observance of the agreement.

According to the Moscow radio, the latest alleged border clashes took place at isolated points on the long frontier.

The most serious incident, the

18 New Recruits Are Enrolled by Local Artillery

Approximately 18 new recruits have been enlisted by the local units of the 156th Field Artillery since the recent authorization of a 20 per cent expansion in the personnel of the New York National Guard, personnel records at the Kingston armory reveal.

This leaves a few vacancies yet to be filled in the Kingston units which include First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Battery A, it was announced at the local armory last night.

Statewide recruiting total for the week ending November 17 showed a net gain of 182, Brig. Gen. Walter G. Robinson, adjutant of the state, announced this week. Already some of the organizations and single units have reached their quotas and discontinued recruiting.

Last week's net gain of 182, added to the previous gains brings the total net gain since the recruiting efforts began to 1,984, or approximately 45 per cent of the number of additional men authorized.

The latest week's figures show a total of 302 new enlistments, 50 re-enlistments and 32 transfers from inactive status to active duty, representing a gross gain of 384. Losses from all causes, including 12 men discharged to enlist in the regular army, navy or marine corps, totaled 202, leaving a net gain for the week of 182.

This brings the total strength of the New York National Guard, including all ranks, to 22,523.

Young men desiring to enlist in the local units of the 156th Field Artillery may do so Thursday evening at 8 o'clock when an officer in charge of recruiting will be present.

Fowler Retains His Wit in Hospital Bed

Los Angeles, Nov. 29 (UP)—The ready wit of Gene Fowler, internationally famous bon vivant, hasn't deserted him in the face of automobile injuries that almost cost his life and that of Film Director Leo McCarey.

"Hey, you guys can't do that," he grinned through a swath of bandages as news photographers started to take his picture in a hospital bed here. "My wife might not think I was sick enough. Anyway, you photographers should be penalized five yards, for taking too much time out for a picture."

He asked friends to send for his agent.

"That guy gets 10 per cent of everything else I get, and I want him to have 10 per cent of my injuries," he cracked. "I don't want him to miss anything."

He went on:

"Now can carry a cane—one of my life's ambitions. A man with a cane looks important. Of course, I'll be a little stooped, but still important."

McCarey, more seriously hurt in a collision Monday night near Azusa, also is expected to recover. He had a shoulder fracture, broken hand and severe flesh wound on his right forearm. Fowler's back, chest and left knee were hurt.

McCarey's machine and that of Irvin Bennett of Fontana collided. The McCarey auto skidded 132 feet after the impact, with two wheels shorn. The top of Bennett's car was thrown 42 feet.

Canon Bryan, 77, Dies in Hospital

King Says Farmer Works for Prices Lower Than Costs

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP)—Herbert P. King, Ithaca, New York State Farm Bureau Federation president, thinks the farmer's greatest handicap is that he works for "prices lower than the cost of supplies."

In an address prepared for the federation's annual convention, King said this causes "correspondingly low" factory payrolls and "below normal" net profits for manufacturing corporations.

"Our production of wealth has slowed down to such a degree that as a people we are definitely moving toward a lower standard of living," he said. "This has resulted in a much greater demand for social security and more and more dependence upon government to remedy the situation, largely by help from the public treasury."

King pointed to the demand for pension plans, sickness insurance, minimum wages, price fixing, production control and large numbers of idle workers, and the great increase in the national debt to meet these demands.

"This tax burden," he added, "has reached a point where I believe it is tending to retard industry and reduce the buying power of labor and agriculture."

"Yet in New York state we are faced with a proposition for a sales tax to help meet state expenses. From an agricultural standpoint, I believe such a tax could be justified only if it were used to lower and equalize the tax burden on real estate."

"So I believe one of the things that we must consider seriously in the future is not to ask government help for things that we can do ourselves."

'Library' of Songbirds Cheers Many Invalids

In Kalamazoo, Mich., a cripple, J. E. Reed, spends much of his time spreading cheer by lending songbirds to invalids and shut-ins.

In the neatly whitewashed basement of his home, he has what he calls his Bird Library. There he has more than 100 birds, all merrily singing, ready to go out with their messages of cheer to any invalid or shut-in who requests them. All Reed requires is a postcard from the patient, with a statement from the physician attesting to the worthiness of the request.

"This is necessary as a health precaution," says Reed, "and then, too, it prevents people trying to get a free bird by taking advantage of me."

"It all started after I had spent four years on a davenport, after injuries from a fall which included a broken leg. I got so tired of listening to the radio that I decided I simply had to have something else to do. So I sent downtown for a pair of canaries. They cheered me up so much that I began to think there must be others who could be made happy by song birds."

"That was three years ago. Now I have 100 birds, and I don't know how many I have loaned."

"You can't imagine what cheer these birds bring to shut-ins until you see it."

Reed told of the blind woman whose face took on a brightness with the coming of the bird, and of the bed-ridden child who sulked and fretted all day long until the bird came to cheer her.

"Now she hates to see the night come and is awake with the first chirp of the bird in the morning," he says.

He takes the bird to the patient and with it the cage and feed, and tells the borrower how to care for the bird.

"It costs me a little and it's sometimes hard work, but the singing of the birds, and the thought of the happiness they bring to suffering and unhappy people more than compensates me," Reed says.

Investigating he found a man lying unconscious at the foot of the flight of stairs, and immediately called the police department. The man was removed to the Kingston Hospital.

Later in the morning it was ascertained that his name was Archie Olney and he resided in Baldwinsville. His condition was reported as fair.

From what the police were able to learn Olney had started to descend the stairs when he slipped or fell headlong to the bottom.

Aside Hosiery Firm Verdict

Philadelphia, Nov. 29 (AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, in a unanimous opinion, set aside today a lower court jury verdict which ordered a labor union to pay the Apex Hosiery Company $711,932.55 for damages resulting from a sitdown strike.

However, the court said it had "no doubt that the union and its president" should be compelled in damages to the Apex Company.

The verdict was returned here last April 3 by a district court jury against Branch 1 of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers and its president, William Leader.

Apex officials had charged violation of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust act, contending interstate commerce was hindered when the strikers were in possession of the Philadelphia plant—one of the world's largest hosiery factories—for seven weeks.

knew who would be expected to pay it.

"It all ends up, it seems to me, in the nature of a sales tax—in other words, a tax that puts the burden on those who are not only least able to pay, but who are wholly unable to pay," he declared.

"I would not favor that."

"You can destroy the citizenship of a country, its morale and its worth almost as effectively through taxation as you can through war."

Wheeler expressed the belief that almost any kind of tax that could be devised eventually would fall on the "little fellow," adding: "The country wouldn't stand for that."

Detroit, Nov. 29 (AP)—The longest and costliest labor dispute in automotive history, a 54-day deadlock between Chrysler Corporation and the CIO United Automobile Workers ended early today with agreement on terms of a new working contract.

Only ratification by union locals was needed to start 58,000 Chrysler hourly employees and an estimated 92,000 others back to work tomorrow.

Chrysler spokesmen said automobiles would be rolling off their assembly lines by Friday and that all plants would operate Monday.

Informed sources said the new contract, supplanting one which expired September 30, provided: A general wage increase of three cents an hour for all Chrysler workers and an added increase for employees in Chrysler's Marysville, Mich., and Newcastle, Ind., plants, the total increase estimated to be about $5,000,000 annually.

Four-Man Board

Establishment of a four-man board to settle grievances, with an impartial mediator as a last resort.

Standards of production to be set by the management, with the workers permitted to carry objections through the grievance procedure.

Agreement by the Congress of Industrial Organizations that its foremen's union will not renew a request for bargaining and will not organize Chrysler foremen during the contract.

No union shop in any form. A strike before all grievance procedure is exhausted nullifies the contract.

There was no official confirmation of any of these terms, which will be submitted to the rank and file membership of the UAW-CIO. Five local unions arranged meetings today.

Chrysler workers lost $15,000,000 in wages during the 35 working days of the controversy, it was estimated, and the dispute cost the corporation $102,000,000 in loss of sales at the start of its 1940 production season.

The third said: "All St. Louis can't be small enough to spare you from a righteous woman's wrath. One you love. (Signed) Adelaide."

Skiolvig told detectives he was unable to explain the meaning of the "fifty" in the first message. In Cleveland last night, he said, he received a telephone call from Mrs. Tate and started home immediately. When he arrived today, he said, she told him not to get excited.

She had run up a telephone bill of about $100, he said, and she scolded her. Then, while he drank some pineapple juice, she had tomato juice. He told her he was going to bed, he said, and she retired to the bathroom.

WIDESPREAD WAR COSTS

The most impressive fact of the war so far is not its human loss but its waste of wealth. The British estimate that it is costing them alone nearly $25,000,000 a day. And that is in direct outlay for military expenses. To it should be added the shipping losses, pensions for the wounded and for relatives of the dead, the loss of trade profit, and the vast but incalculable loss of the wealth left uncreated by diversion of so many millions of people from profitable work to unprofitable war activities. A reasonable guess including all the factors might run up to $50,000,000 a day or nearly $20,000,000,000 a year.

Add the French cost, which might be nearly half as much. Add the German cost, which must be far more than the French. Add the heavy and growing losses imposed on the non-belligerent nations in the war zone, and also on more remote nations, including our own. We might have a total which in a few years would equal the entire wealth of continental Europe or of the Roman Empire of the old Caesars.

This cost, while falling most heavily on western Europe, is really spread by direct and indirect processes over the whole world. The entire human race probably joins in paying for it in various ways, directly or indirectly. So it is not a localized war; it is a world catastrophe.

DESTRUCTIVE MAN

Animals kill their enemies among other species, and fight for their mates, but none of them is so destructive as man, observes Dr. Francis H. Herrick, biologist of Western Reserve University. The human species is the only one that burns and destroys and kills its own kind.

But that isn't the whole story. He might have pointed out that man is not only the most destructive creature, but the most constructive. Look at all our cities, bridges, churches and so on.

The truth seems to be that man is nearly everything, large and small, good and bad—but, we like to believe, with a surplus of good and a capacity for improvement.

Religion, Professor Herrick says, provides "a great restraint upon the evil passions of mankind." This form of restraint, however, isn't so great as it used to be. On the other hand, there seems to be a gradual and natural gain in human tolerance and cooperation.

THANKFUL WEEK

It turned out to be Thanksgiving Week in Minneapolis. Mayor Leach figured that the people of that city had so much to be thankful for that he proclaimed a period of eight days for local Thanksgiving. The civic observance was to begin at 12:01 a. m. November 23 and end at 11:59 p. m. November 30.

As for the Thanksgiving feast, that was up to individual families. "Let your conscience be your guide," said the broad-minded mayor.

Mayor Leach, no doubt, was merely trying to please everybody, those who wanted to string along with the President on the fourth Thursday of the month and those who wished to follow the governor who proclaimed the fifth—and last—Thursday for the state holiday.

It might have been a good thing if the Minneapolis idea had been widely and seriously followed. A whole week of thanksgiving "thoughtfulness" would not be too much for Americans who have occasion to be thankful every day in the year. And the turkey has been known to last that long even without the double date.

BUSINESS CANDIDATES

General Hugh Johnson starts a new wave of political discussion by suggesting as a presidential candidate Wendell Willkie, "electric power magnate" and president of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation. "I think of some business men who couldn't be elected dog-catcher," says the General, "and I think of some who could, and I think Mr. Willkie would make a very strong presidential candidate."

No doubt he would, among business men and other voters who have a business slant on public affairs. He is regarded as one of the ablest and most appealing representatives of the business viewpoint.

Whether any such representative of business would stand a real chance of nomination or election for the presidency is another question. Most observers, whether partisans or independents, would probably say that no "business man" could have a chance at the highest office now or in the immediate future.

Not that most Americans are really "against business." But the general public seems to feel that men of business training and environment are not likely to understand the "human problems of government" so well as candidates who have risen to eminence through public service.

HOT-AND-COLD STRATOSPHERE

An astronomer now declares that the stratosphere is not all so icy cold as balloon observations made in the past have seemed to prove.

Using a new device which observes the speed of meteors, Dr. Fred L. Whipple of Harvard has found evidence that the temperature up beyond the cloud varies. It is 55 degrees below zero up in the twenty-mile layer. Beyond that it begins to grow warmer until, at thirty-eight miles, the temperature has reached 212 degrees Fahrenheit. Still farther out from the earth the temperature drops once more, reaching 90 degrees below zero at fifty miles. At seventy miles, however, it is up to room temperature.

Maybe this is so, and certainly the idea is interesting. Some of us are moved to ask childhood's perpetual question, "Why?" These things are too deep for us. We just know we're glad we don't have to pass through the stratosphere daily on our way to work. Dressing for all kinds of weather is hard enough on the earth's surface in a North American winter.

More disillusionment—Hollywood has let the professional kissers down and installed mechanical kissing machines that do the job better.

Maybe the politicians can settle that question of Roosevelt running again or not running, with daisy petals, if they can find a daisy.

Some folks brag about having more than other fellows, but it's better just to give thanks and feel humble about it.

"Giant pandas" are not giants, and bang goes another illusion.

ALLERGY TESTS FOR CHILDREN

If an infant or young child breaks out with hives or a skin rash, most mothers nowadays know that some food disagrees with the youngster or to which he is allergic or sensitive is the cause. Most adults also know when they have hives just about which food is responsible.

In addition to hives or a rash, many mothers now know that eczema, head colds, and asthmatic and hard coughing attacks may be caused by foods. Stomach and intestinal upsets are, in many cases, due to allergy or sensitivity to certain foods.

There are, however, other symptoms due to foods of which many mothers are not aware. Dr. H. A. Slesinger, Windsor, Pa., points these out in Hygeia, the health magazine.

"Eczema in infants is usually caused by the presence of certain proteins in cow's milk which the child cannot tolerate. It is now possible for a child to be allergic (sensitive) to his own mother's milk. Many of these babies will recover completely and never have any more symptoms of allergy. Others will remain allergic to milk and must be kept on a milk-free diet for many years. Still others become allergic to other substances and will develop various symptoms."

"Some of the substances besides food to which one may become allergic are dust, pollen, feathers and animal danders or substances to which the victim comes into physical contact, such as silk, wool, or chemicals."

Even a change in temperature affects some individuals sometimes almost taking away their breath or causing a stomach upset.

Dr. Slesinger says that the most satisfactory method of dealing with the allergic child is to try to remove the offending food from his diet, and the offending substance—pollen, feathers, furs—from his surroundings. When the food or other substance is difficult to remove from his diet or surroundings, then a process of trying to make him less allergic or sensitive to this food or other substance should be used. This is done in the case of food by starting with small amounts of the food daily and gradually increasing the amount until he is able to eat the usual serving without the development of any symptoms.

Mrs. John Schmidt of New York enjoyed the week-end on the farm here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Clemon of New York spent most of last week at their home here.

Last week, Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pedersen with their daughter, Rita, motored to Brooklyn to spend Thanksgiving with their daughters. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Pedersen returned home and Mrs. Pedersen remained at Brooklyn for another week's visit.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Dover were John A. Barringer, Mrs. Hove's father, Mrs. Florence Christiansa of Krumville, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith of Kingston, Mrs. Hattie Donahue of Cragmoor, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Christiansa of Stone Ridge.

Sunday visitors of Mrs. Florence N. Christiansa were her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Wells, and their three children, Harriet, Joan and Myron Jr., of Gardner.

Last week, Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. William Lortz with their daughter, Lorraine, were entertained at the home of Mrs. Lortz's mother, Mrs. E. E. Brundage, at Lake Katrine. The event being a birthday party for Mr. Lortz, when the hostess served a turkey supper with all the fixings, and presented Mr. Lortz with a fine birthday cake. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brink and Peter Eckert of Lomontville.

Clarence and Charles Eckert recently finished gathering corn fodder on the farm.

Lester Barringer last week started work driving a truck on the Lackawack project.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller were Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher and their son, John, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Labardo of Kingston. Berton Makle of Acorn Hill and his friend, Miss Lorian Tweedy, of Olive Bridge.

Thanksgiving guests of Mrs. Simon Merrihew were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eckert, Charles Merrihew and his family of Krumville, Mr. Albert Quick of Olive Bridge, Harry Empt and Winifred Empt of Montgomery and Mrs. Clyde Cooper of Bulville.

Robert L. and Betty Jane Lobdell of Nassau spent Thanksgiving and the week-end at the parsonage with their grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. William H. Barringer.

Mr. and Mrs. Hasbrouck Christiansa with their daughter, Wendy, of North Brookfield, spent their Thanksgiving at the home of Mrs. Christiansa's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Hansen.

Lincoln and Oscar Christensen of New York spent their Thanksgiving and the week-end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christensen.

Many from here attended the institute of the Classis of Ulster county at the First Dutch Reformed Church at Kingston Tuesday evening of this week.

The regular meeting of the Community Circle, which was to be held at the home of Elder John A. Barringer Tuesday of this week, has been postponed until Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock of this week. It will be a business meeting, prayer meeting, recreational meeting, after which refreshments will be served and some new games are planned for this week.

Sunday afternoon guests at the parsonage were Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Lobdell, and two of their children, Harold and Eva, of Nassau. Upon their return they took back with them Robert L. and Betty Jane Lobdell, who attend school at Clinton Heights.

At the special service at the church last Sunday evening, for the dedication of the new lights, there were 80 present. The pastor had borrowed many lights to connect with the outlets in the front of the church, and at a given signal all but one light were turned off until the opening of the program by Deacon Clayton Christiansa, who was at the switch box in a cabinet in the balcony of the church. When the pastor announced light came, they were all turned on at one time. Those furnishing lights for decorations were Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Christensen, of Krumville, Mrs. Genevieve McLean of Samsonville, and the Rev. and Mrs. William H. Barringer.

Those taking part with the music beside part of the choir of the church were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore of Olive Bridge, who sang a duet, Mrs. Genevieve McLean of Samsonville who sang a solo, and the three Donaldson sisters of Kingston, in vocal selections, and Miss Shirley and Ardele Donaldson sang a duet. Miss Shirley Donaldson sang a solo. The pastor of the church gave the message of the evening, the subject of which was "Light." He also gave a report of the money collected and paid out for the lights installed in the church.

The pastor's report given was: "Donated by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, $35.00, Miss Ruth Trowbridge of New Paltz and Miss Mildred Trowbridge of Honolulu each gave $7.50, one to pay for one light in the church and one to pay for the two lights in the balcony of the church, in memory of their father, the late Joseph F. Trowbridge. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Christensen gave $7.50, Harold, Lester and Raymond Davis each gave $2.50, a total of $7.50, for one light in memory of their father, the late Steven H. Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thomsen gave $8 to pay for one light and 50 cents extra. Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Hansen paid $5 for the two inside lights on the front of the church. Mrs. Florence Donahue gave $5, Mrs. Katherine Merrihew and Henry Merrihew gave together $5, Elder John A. Barringer gave $3.75, Anthony Cafagno gave $2, a total of $93.75, which covered the total expense, including the $5.50 paid to the fire underwriter for the inspection, and all the labor was donated by Deacon Clayton Christiansa. This would have amounted to over $100. Elder William H. Barringer, the pastor of the church, thanked all for their fine gifts for the church and the consistency, and dedicated the lights to the service of the church to improve their worship and interest in the church. A prayer of thankfulness and dedication followed.

Last week Friday there were installed in the church two new wood burner circulating heaters, and the seats were rearranged for the same by Conrad Christensen. He also, with Sherman Miller, Robert L. Lobdell, Elder John A. Barringer and the pastor, assisted with putting up the new stoves, and Mrs. William H. Barringer

New Utilities' Spending Program Will Create Tens of Thousands of Jobs Throughout Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 29.—Tens of thousands of jobs are being created by the new spending program of the electric power and light utilities of the country. A schedule of expenditures amounting to something between $650,000,000 and $700,000,000 is in actual process at the moment for the year 1940. This represents an increase of more than $250,000,000 over 1939. The present year has seen an increase of $200,000,000 over 1938.

The utilities have plans for the expenditure of at least $1,000,000,000 for the year 1941, as they are anxious to build up gradually the necessary extra facilities which would have been built by this time if it had not been for the political raid on the utility business made by the authorities at Washington.

Investors who are to furnish the needed funds are not altogether sure that Washington has ceased hostilities, for every now and then there is sniping which would indicate that the radicals in the New Deal would like to start utility-baiting again. In the last few weeks, there have been evidences of a return to that attitude on the part of administrators and government agencies, and, indeed, by New Deal members of Congress who in the past have been in the forefront in the utility controversy.

A political raid on the utilities is not difficult to recognize in its incipient stages. Public statements are released seizing on technicalities, though nowadays the alleged necessity of ruling the utilities from a war emergency basis is emphasized.

The utility companies have conformed to the holding company act and are working in close cooperation with the securities and exchange commission; in fact, they rarely take any important steps of a financing nature without consulting commission in advance so as to be sure that no laws are violated. But even this avails them very little evidently, because sniping starts just the same on Capitol Hill.

Ordinarily—that is, in the last few years—one attack more or less has made little difference. But today, as investors are considering whether to allow their funds to be loaned to utilities in bonds or invested in common stocks, it is of the utmost importance that as surance be widespread concerning the sincerity of the administration's attitude.

Again and again President Roosevelt has said in his press conferences that the utilities have nothing to fear, and when recently the TVA and the Commonwealth & Southern Power Company settled their differences it was believed a truce had really been established, so that the government's invasion of the private utility business would be held within the existing limits of the large power projects already built or being built by the government.

Now, however, rumors are afloat that the war emergency will be used as a pretext to tackle the utility problem again. The politicians want government ownership or control quite naturally because it means offices for them and plenty of financial benefits for their friends. There is an electric power deficiency today and it would be considerable if the United States entered the war, but it is a shortage which the private utilities could meet promptly by inter-connection if the government cared to let them do so.

The coming utility expenditures of about $650,000,000 to $700,000,000 mean an increase of at least 100,000 jobs for 1940, to say nothing of the indirect gains in employment when vast quantities of raw materials have to be moved by the railroads and trucks of the country.

The fact that there is to be considerable utility financing in the coming months arises out of a belief in the financial centers of the country that the government is going to cease harassing the electric power and light companies, which now are regulated to the nth degree by the most drastic kind of legislation. The only real issue has been whether the government would spread its ownership of facilities and appropriate more public money to build power projects.

The temper of congress at the last session was distinctly against more governmental experiments in the power business and it was the attitude of the majority in congress which brought about the present upsurge in confidence concerning the future of the utilities—a confidence that can easily be impaired if the public ownership devotees once more start sniping at the private companies.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Nov. 28.—The annual election of the Marlborough Fire District will be held in the court house room in the village

Tuesday, December 5, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 10 p. m. One fire commissioner will be elected to succeed R. O. Froemel whose term expires. Mr. Froemel, who is president of the Board of Commissioners, is a candidate for re-election. A vote will also be taken on the following proposition: Shall the sum of $2,000 be raised by taxation and be included in the next succeeding tax levy on the Marlborough Fire District for the current expenses and maintenance of the district? All resident qualified voters may cast a vote for the commissioner, but only resident qualified voters, who are property owners can vote on the proposition.

Dr. Alfred Massell, Marlborough dentist, who composes music as a side issue, was informed last week that one of his popular songs written recently had been picked as a prize winner by Radio Guide.

The title of the song is "What Is There To Do, But Think Of You." Dr. Massell recently had 10 new songs published. They were submitted to orchestra leaders and radio singers for presentation.

Chapter 46

Pursuit

MICHAEL and Bunny came back to the house only a few minutes after Tuck had left it. Michael was whistling as he ran up the steps to the sun porch, and talking to Bunny over his shoulder. "Well, it clears the air a little," he was saying, agreeing with something she had already said. Then, "Tuck!" he called. "I guess she's gone to bed," he said as Bunny came in and stood beside him. They went into the house. Michael went through to the kitchen to find Charlotte Jean. It was dark out there.

"I wonder where Charlotte Jean is?" he said. "It's only half past eight."

Bunny looked at him with the beginning of a worried frown. "It's her evening off, Michael, and I didn't think about it. Tuck shouldn't have been left alone feeling so ill."

Michael was half way up the stairs by the time she had finished. The bedroom door was closed. He put his hand on the knob and opened it very softly, so as not to disturb Tuck.

Her bed had not been disturbed. He came down again in two steps. "She's not there," he said quietly.

"She's nowhere downstairs either, Tuck!" Bunny called. "Tuck!" Then she went to the door and called. "Kitty, kitty!"

"Agg-memnon!" not around either," she said after a moment. "She's not in the house, Michael. He never goes away unless she does."

Michael went out and stood in the garden. He looked over at the Deanes. There was a light in an upper room.

"She may have gone over to see Gordon," he said, and started swiftly for the gate.

He did not knock, but opened the door and went in and ran up the stairs. Mrs. Deane was there alone.

"Has Tuck been here?" Michael asked softly.

She got up and came to the door. "Yes," she whispered. "Gordon wanted to tell you something and she came instead. But the poor boy couldn't talk intelligibly. I'm afraid I don't think she understood what it was."

"Where is she now?"

"Why, I'm awfully sorry, Mr. Forrester, I haven't the slightest idea. She went out of here and home I suppose she didn't..."

"What did he tell her?"

"Why, that's just what I was telling you. I don't think he told her much of anything although it seemed to be troubling him terribly. He said something about a Creeping Man, I remember, as if he were having a nightmare. He said the Creeping Man came up out of the ground and hit him."

"Where did he come up out of the ground?"

"On the cliffs, Mr. Forrester. And..."

Michael was gone. Bunny was waiting on the porch. "Isn't she there?"

"No," he muttered. "The cliffs." He ran across to the path. Bunny followed him. He ran like a deer.

The sun was gone. The open space on the cliff was dark.

"Tuck!" Michael called. "Tuck! Where are you?"

There was no answer. He called again. Bunny stood beside him, listening.

"Hush," she whispered after a moment. "Do you hear that? Doesn't it sound like... Kitty-kitty?"

She called it, but it was not the sound resolved itself into a loud mew.

They ran toward it. The cat moved again. Michael reached into his pocket and drew out a flashlight. He turned it on ahead of them.

There, on top of a stump, mewing anxiously and sniffing at it, sat Agamemnon. He turned his head toward them and blinked in the light. He gave another loud, pitiful mew.

"It opens!"

"It's the stump, Michael," Bunny said, excitedly. "Look at it! ... see's touched that stump lately. He can tell, Michael. He loves her so."

He turned the light on it and they both examined it carefully. It did not take long to discover that most of the stump, and it took longer to discover its significance.

"I believe it opens," Michael said eagerly. "Michael, I'm positive the night we saw him he came up just about here."

"Through the stump?"

"He might. There might be a fissure in the rock down below."

Michael drew a long breath. "A fissure in the rock," he repeated. "That would be it... look here, Bunny, it's a hole. I've got my fingers on it, or isn't it?"

She held the light closer. "It looks like it."

He twisted with his fingers. "Well, it isn't a pin that fits out." He took his knife from his pocket, opened it with shaking fingers, and worked at the knot. Then he leaned on the stump and it gave way.

Michael was down the narrow steps without a moment's hesitation. Bunny followed him. He took the flashlight from her once he was safely on the cliff, and held it out before him. Far below he saw a ledge of rock and another flight of winding stairs, and below that a narrow cave, with water at the bottom. He went on down to the ledge of rock and walked along it as far as he could reach. He was marked in a solid wall of rock, it seemed. Rock. He looked about him. There above him, at the right, stood Bunny. She was just beneath a stumpy row. She was about twenty-five feet from him; therefore he must be near the edge of the cliff. He looked at the wall of rock directly in front of the little cave, shutting it off from the river. He did not understand. This was splendid as a hiding place, but it could be reached only from the stump. He had thought this would be the explanation of the boat... there was no boat there. No boat, and no Tuck...

With a sudden inspiration he reached forward on the ledge, as far as he could go and touched that wall of rock with the end of the knife still in his hand. After a moment it moved a little, rippling and very soft. Michael pushed at it, again, gave a short hard laugh and came back along the ledge. "Painted canvas. Go up quick, Bunny. I've got to get her. I've got to follow her."

They left the stump, and Michael darted off toward the house again. At the gate Michael turned toward the river again.

"What are you going to do, Michael?"

"Row across. It's the only thing to do. The only thing we know is that he'll be down-stream from the spot I land at... unless he hides his boat, and walks. He... surely I can find something there."

And he was off toward the ravine where he and Gordon had hidden the new boat.

Across the River

THE river was not more than a mile wide at the point where Michael crossed it, but it seemed like a million. The current was swift, and very strong, and it took all his strength to keep the boat from being swept down-stream more rapidly than he could make headway. All of his strength, he told himself grimly, and all that lent him by the awful thought of Tuck in the hands of this madman, this cunning fiend who held life as of no value.

As he bent strongly to the oars he was obsessed by the fear that he was doing the wrong thing, going the wrong way to rescue Tuck. What proof had he that she had been taken across the river? None. Only the fact that Gordon had said again and again that the mysterious boat came from across the river.

He gritted his teeth. If only he had been able to discover that one little clue. That one end of the ball of thread whose loops would round him constantly and lead back only into the tangle. The letter written by Murchison himself when he must be dead; Smith's awful fear of him; his appearance only day before yesterday... Murchison himself. Smith would swear it. The proprietor of the hardware store had seen him, a tall man in a dust-coat and a fawn hat who had bought an oar-lock. Smith might have been mistaken in the identity of his man, however sure he seemed to be, but that oar-lock was convincing.

When he was nearing the other shore Michael knew suddenly what he must find; somewhere. A laboratory. That was it. That was the clue. A madman, gone off to perform an experiment. What experiment? A laboratory, not for fun, not at a great distance, but right here, right under their noses all the time. A place which could have been used as a base, from which the boat had come.

The water was getting shallower at last. The boat grounded suddenly, and with a groan of thankfulness Michael jumped out into the water and pulled the boat in to shore. He peered anxiously along the shore for that other boat; hoping against hope that it would be near. But as far as he could see in the darkness it was not in sight. He dragged his own boat down-stream a little, into the shadow of some bushes growing near the water's edge, and, flashlight in hand for use if he needed it, he started off down the river. He had reasoned to himself on the long trip across that if, indeed, the boat had been brought across to this shore, its destination was in all probability down-stream, since the current was too swift to row up-stream.

He walked swiftly along the smooth sand of the bank close to the water's edge, searching for that other boat; but he did not find it; and finally, after he had walked many yards down the shore, he decided that he must risk a light. He turned back upstream and flashed the beam upon the sand ahead of him, walking slowly, peering closely, hoping for footprints to guide him.

He was beginning to despair. Time wasted, and Tuck? Where was she? He pressed his lips together tightly and wiped the perspiration from the palms of his hands. He must not think of that.

He came back to his own boat and passed it, almost hopelessly now. The smooth sand had given place to rocks upon which footmarks would not leave a trace. He turned his light out over the water, but no boat was visible. He went a few steps farther and turned it down upon the rocks at his feet. Something small and rosy caught the light and gave it back to him. He looked at it unseeing for a moment, and then caught his breath; bent swiftly and picked it up.

It was a bead, rosy-red, made of carved coral. Tuck's necklace! He was breathing hard as he dropped it into his pocket, and looked again on the rocks. Three more beads he found, close to each other. Tuck had been wearing them, that might mean...

... what? That the string had broken while she was being carried? Or—he laughed a little to himself. Trust Tuck... if she were conscious. She would find a way to tell him where she was.

CHARIOTS FOR CASH

Rome, (AP)—The ministry of finance is "cracking down" on Italians who, on pretense of leaving Italy as tourists, had exported automobiles and sold them to get cash in the country of their destination. The ministry directed customs authorities to take steps to see that when Italians depart with automobiles they bring 'em back.

Man:—I hear your son is to be a dentist. You said recently that he was to be an ear specialist.

Friend:—Yes, he wanted to be, but I persuaded him that a man has 32 teeth and only 2 ears.

The old Negro preacher got up one night at the revival meeting and said:

"Brudders and sisters, you knows dat I ain't eben what I oughter been. I was robbed hen houses and stole hogs, and stole watermelons, and stole lies, and got drunk, and slashed folks wid mah razor, and shot craps and cussed and swore; but I thank the Lord, dere's one thing I ain't never done: I ain't never lost mah religion."

You can still make THANKSGIVING DAY CALLS AT REDUCED LONG DISTANCE RATES

This year some states set Nov. 23rd as Thanksgiving Day—others, Nov. 30th.

So the Bell System announced all-day reductions on Long Distance calls—with a station-to-station day rate of 40¢ or more—made on either of the days, between any points within the United States, one of which would be observing the holiday.

In New York State Nov. 23rd was designated. But don't forget that on Nov. 30th, you can enjoy these same reductions on calls to any state that is celebrating Thanksgiving on that day. New York Telephone Company.

Rabbi Bloom to Attend Annual Jewish Meeting

New York, Nov. 29.—Outstanding American leaders in the field of war relief and refugee work will address the sessions of the 25th annual meeting of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee at the Standard Club in Chicago on December 2 and 3. It was announced today in an official call issued by the officers of the committee.

Principal speakers at the opening dinner session on Saturday evening (December 2), the announcement disclosed, will be Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York, who took an active part during the World War in the relief efforts of the committee which then, as now, went into the field to perform a special task hand in hand with interdenominational and non-sectarian American organizations. In the years immediately following the World War, Governor Lehman was in direct charge of the reconstructive work carried on by the J. D. C. in behalf of distressed Jewish communities in eastern Europe.

Representing Kingston on the J. D. C. are the following: Rabbi Herbert L. Bloom, member of the National Council and J. D. C. community chairman.

An experiment in international cooperation among animals has been concluded successfully by Zoo Curator R. Marlin Perkins of Buffalo. For a long time, Perkins worried about ten red foxes confined in cramped temporary quarters. Meanwhile five Tahgoats, notably ill-tempered, displaced themselves with space to spare. With some misgivings, Perkins placed two of the foxes with the goats but the latter displayed an unexpected tolerance, and now Perkins reports "all quiet in the zoo."

Dipping 'Doodles' Spur Gold Search At Hollywood Bowl

Hollywood, Nov. 29 (AP)—Dipping "doodles" spurred diggers today in their search for the legendary treasure of the Hollywood Hills—$200,000 in gold and gems which a Mexican sheepherder supposedly buried 74 years ago.

A hole in the famed Hollywood Bowl's parking lot reached a depth of 12 feet and Frank Hoekstra, inventor of the No. 1 "doodlebug" on the job said gold "definitely" was somewhere below.

Four other "doodlebug" operators appeared on the scene, and three of them agreed after tests that metal is present. The other's apparatus remained indifferent.

Hoekstra calls his machine an "electrochemical recorder." It shoots 800 volts of battery-supplied electrical current into the ground, he says. When the charge strikes buried metal it sets up a secondary field it impulses which are reflected to a sensitive electrode filled with copper sulphate and relayed to a recording needle which agitates according to the current received.

The other "doodlebugs" were roughly similar to Hoekstra's, except one. This consisted of a mysterious substance wrapped in gray cloth and exhibited by an elderly, dreamy-eyed gentleman with a cane. He said it achieved its divining powers from the ether.

Henry Jones, Seattle mining engineer in charge of the search, remained confident he would find the cache which, so the story goes, was buried in 1865 after unsuccessful attempts to buy arms in San Francisco to aid a Mexican revolution. The legend says eight men who sought the treasure have been killed by a "curse" placed by Benito Juarez, who gathered the fortune to aid his cause.

Makarevich Held For Grand Jury in Dairyland Theft

New York, Nov. 28 (Special)—On the complaint of Post Office Inspector John Hartwell, Afanasy Makarevich was arraigned in Federal Court here today before United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter, charged with the burglary of the Dairyland, Ulster county, Post Office on September 17 last. He was committed to Detention Headquarters, in lieu of bail set at $2,500, pending Grand Jury action.

The defendant obtained $5.72 in the burglary, according to Assistant United States Attorney Roger V. N. Pownell, who is in charge of the case. It was stated before the commissioner that Makarevich removed the safe from the post office and worked over it for about 15 minutes, without being able to open it. It contained about $500.

Texas farmers produced more than 40,000,000 bushels of wheat last year.

Ben Schuster, 56, (right) a WPA worker, was bound over to circuit court at Carrollton, Mo., on a murder charge growing out of the death of 3-year-old Billy Austin (left). The state charged Schuster beat the child fatally because Billy, a neighbor boy, opened a gate and let hogs out of Schuster's lot.

Statements Ready For Wage Earners

Requests by wage earners for statements showing the standing of their old-age insurance accounts are reaching the Social Security Board in steadily increasing numbers since the amendment of the Social Security Act, according to Charles E. Burke, manager of the board's field office here. The total number received by the end of October was approximately 160,486. About 33.4 per cent of these requests reached the bureau after August 10, the day the President signed the bill revising the security law.

Increasing interest on the part of the country's wage earners in the standing of their wage accounts was attributed by Mr. Burke to their rapidly developing realization of the importance of these accounts. "The amended law," he said, "makes it even more evident that it is to a man's interest to see that he gets credit for every dollar of his wages. Under the amended law, the determination of benefits is based on the worker's average monthly wage; but the amount of this average depends, of course, upon total earnings."

Mr. Burke said reports from Washington revealed only a small percentage of cases in which the employer had failed to report fully and accurately his employees' wages. "The Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors' Insurance hopes, however," he added, "that every wage earner who feels that an employer may have failed at one time or another to report his wages will ask for an accounting. For the employer's convenience a post-card form has been prepared. Any worker can get one of these forms at any of the board's field offices. All he has to do is to fill it in and mail it to the board. Within a short time he will get a statement showing the wages credited to him."

Plane Facts
Tucson, Ariz. (AP)—An airplane sowed 200 pounds of 50 varieties of grass seed over range land near here to test that method of restoring the range for cattle. The University of Arizona and the U. S. soil conservation service cooperated in the experiment. Results will not be known for several months.

Group Rehearses For Church Play

Rehearsals for "The Scarlet Ghost" to be staged Tuesday evening, December 12, at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, are in progress.

Last year almost the identical cast of thespians staged "Here Come Three Knights" which made a big hit at the Baptist Church and later at the Clinton Avenue Church. Miss Koonz, director, and the followers are looking forward to another banner production this year.

"The Scarlet Ghost" combines both comedy and mystery in equal portions. The plot concerns one Betty Norton, an elderly lady who is much excited and disgusted about her nephew, Spencer Norton.

Those in the cast are Norma Garrison, Alice Rockwell, Doris Harvey, Elizabeth Heaps, Audrey Greene, Harold Canfield, Charles Gumac, Edward Safford, Robert Jones and Irwin Thomas. Tickets may be procured from any member of the Guild or from the following persons on the ticket committee: Norma Garrison, Doris Harvey and Irwin Thomas. Rehearsals for this week are scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday.

St. Paul's Church Bazaar to Open

The bazaar which is being held this evening and tomorrow evening will open with a roast pork and sauerkraut supper at St. Paul's Church.

This evening a play, "The Magic Spectacles," will be given by a group of the girls of the Bible School. Those participating are Betty LaTour, Dorothy Walters, Betty Salzmann, Pearl Ewel, Clara Ewel and Ruth Woelfersheim. The comedy is directed by Mrs. P. M. Young.

Thursday evening the ladies will again serve a roast pork cafeteria supper. During the supper and later "The Tahitians," with their Hawaiian music will entertain. The orchestra consists of Miss Frances Percoll, Miss Grace Allenton, Clifford Every, Herbert Every and Gordon Craig, Jr.

The following are the chairmen of the booths: Handkerchief, Miss Marion Marquart; homemade candy, Miss Grace Berryman; flower, Miss H. Otto; Ladies' Aid fancy booth, Mrs. J. Eadie; grocery, Charles Bahr; waffles, Mrs. H. LaTour; novelties, Miss Helen Koepfen; refreshments, Clinton Lawson. Mr. Herman is chairman of the bazaar and is assisted by the presidents of the various organizations.

for a devotional service. Besides the Baptist churches of the city, representatives are expected from Newburgh, Walden, Phoenicia, Low's Corners, Shokan and Saugerties. The Rev. Roger K. Powell of this city will be the leader of one of the conferences.

Browder Makes His New Haven Speech Amid Terrific Din

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 29 (AP)—Earl Browder, whose coming broke a storm of protest by veteran groups throughout the state after he was barred from speaking at Harvard, Princeton and Dartmouth, told a noisy Yale University audience that "the only way to peace is to take power out of the hands of capitalists."

The communist leader's listeners—500 crowded into a hall built to accommodate 406—were only a small part of the 4,000 persons who gathered outside the building and raised a terrific din during his address last night.

As the speaker left by a rear door, 300 boisterous students milled around the Browder automobile with cries of "Turn it over." They almost did so before desisting. The din that accompanied Browder's speech included almost every form of noise from cheers to the bursting of a firecracker. Cries of "Viva Browder" and "down with everything" punctuated the speech. Browder gave no indication that he was disturbed.

The crowd, made up mostly of students, was attracted to the scene by the unsuccessful efforts of Mayor John W. Murphy and the Connecticut American Legion to have President Charles Seymour of Yale cancel the talk.

Dramas Are 'Insult'

New Rochelle, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP)—Romance on the radio has aroused the collective wrath of 600 Westchester county clubwomen. In a resolution adopted unanimously, they called upon radio chains to broadcast fewer love dramas and provide more programs dealing with homemaking and child training. The resolution described the love dramas as an "insult to intelligent women."

Farmer From Vermont Comes To U. S. With Awesome Tale

San Francisco, Nov. 29 (AP)—A 45-year-old Vermont farmer was back in the United States today with an awesome story of how he and two other Americans sailed a 29-foot outrigger canoe 4,000 miles from Honolulu to Samoa.

Life is Capt. U. A. Woodbury, who said he left his Appleton Point farm in Vermont two years ago and sailed a 35-foot boat to Hawaii when he felt the call of the sea.

After sitting around Honolulu for a while, Woodbury bought a 100-year-old native canoe, fitted it with a steel pontoon designed to hold 80 gallons of gasoline for an outboard motor, and christened it Lealea-Lani.

Don Hall of Long Beach, Calif., and Charles Kern of Rhode Island joined Woodbury as a crew and the three set out April 19 after a few weeks of test runs with the frail craft.

"The trip was more or less like riding a log," said Woodbury yesterday.

"We were under water a good deal of the time. It became commonplace to see a wave coming over us. If we were smoking we'd just hold up one hand, so the cigarette wouldn't get wet."

The water rotted our clothes to pieces," Woodbury said the canoe sailed so smoothly before the wind that sometimes they had to slow her down by taking in sail. They never once had to use the motor.

Sharks followed the tiny canoe all the way across.

"Once, when we were hungry," he related, "we speared a baby shark, but he broke the spear. The others saw the blood and they tore him and our ideas of a meal to bits."

"Our sail caught plenty of water for us," he said, "and you can see why when I tell you it rained about every 15 minutes."

The three were near starvation when they landed, having eaten only two raw fish during the last several days.

Woodbury said the Samoans gave them a warm ovation. "Some of the chiefs brought their whole villages to see us."

MEETACAHONTS

Metacahonts, Nov. 29 — Mrs. Percy Krom is ill at her home.

Mrs. Birdella Depuy has been entertaining her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Depuy and family, of New York, the past week.

Mrs. Archie Depuy called on Mrs. Phoebe Krom Monday afternoon. Mrs. Krom is not so well at this writing.

Mrs. Jennie Osterhout, of Kyrle, spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Osterhout and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell and son, of Kerhonkson were entertained at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Bell and family, Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wager, of Lyonsville, Mrs. Ella Wood and son, Arthur, spent Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Osterhout, daughter Olive and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelder.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelder and daughter spent Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gazlay and family, of Accord.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chrissy and family were entertained Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. Luther Chrissy, of Rochester, Centre.

A large crowd attended the Thanksgiving social last week at the Metacahonts hall and spent an enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Osterhout and daughter, Doris, spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. Jason Gray and son, at Arugod.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ebert and son, called on their parents in Pennsylvania, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Depuy spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. Elton Depuy and family.

The Willing Workers will meet at the home of Mrs. Elmer Hendrickson, December 13 at 2 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Connot, of Llenville, called on relatives and friends in this place, Sunday.

Shocking Story

Paducah, Ky. (AP)—A simple paper sack has made life easier for toll collectors on the Paducah-Brookport bridge over the Ohio river. Hitherto, they used to hesitate to extend their hands for tolls, knowing they would receive a shock of static electricity generated by auto motors. Now that's all changed. Motorists are told to drop coins inside the sacks. The paper furnishes insulation.

Christmas Seal

Rockwell Kent, noted American artist, designed the Christmas seal that will soon be placed on sale by the National Tuberculosis Association.

An angel with outstretched arms is drawn in red against a brilliant blue background. The red double-barred cross, a crusading emblem since medieval times, occupies one corner. White numerals, 1939, complete the picture.

The annual seal is a philatelic item, and all the issues are chronicled in Scott's special catalogue of U. S. postal paper.

Spain's Velasquez

Stamps showing five famous paintings of the noted Spanish artist, Diego Velasquez, have been issued by the Franco government. The reproductions are remarkably clear. Velasquez (1599-1660), Goya and El Greco make up Spain's "Big Three" in art.

The set is designed to raise funds for orphans of postal employees. The stamps were issued separately and on a miniature sheet, both perforated and imperforate, with a tab containing the nation's new coat-of-arms and the date, "12 Octubre 1939." The stamps are inscribed "Huerfanos de Correos" (For the Orphans of the Postal Service).

On a 5-centime gray-green is "La Fragua de Vulcan" (The Forge of Vulcan), 10c deep brown, "Los Borrachos" (The Drunkards), 25c dark blue, "Las Meninas" (The Maids of Honor), 50c scarlet, "Las Hilanderas" (The Spinners), and 1-peseta ultramarine, "La Rendicion de Breda" (The Surrender of Breda). Similar stamps were issued during the recent civil war. But stamps were being issued so profusely by both sides that the Standard Catalogue refused to recognize them as postal items.

"Famous American" Changes

The first day sale points for two of the forthcoming "Famous American" stamps have been changed, according to the Post Office Department. The Henry W. Longfellow stamp will first be placed on sale at Portland, Me., where Longfellow was born, instead of Cambridge, Mass. The stamp honoring inventor Elias Howe will be issued at Spencer, Mass., his birthplace, also instead of Cambridge.

Radium is enormously expensive because it takes 11,000 tons of ore to produce one ounce, worth $700,000.

BRENDA AND A $1,000,000 SPARKLER

Onlookers o'ed and ah'ed when Glamour Girl Brenda Frazier (above) looking more glamorous than ever in a Spanish style gown, appeared at New York's costliest style show in many a day — modeling a $1,000,000 diamond. For there's a cool fortune in the sparkle of the great gem which hangs at her neck. Said to be the largest diamond with modern cutting, it was displayed for the first time since it was cut. Its owner is Harry Winston.

Stamps In The News

War and Stamps

Parcel Post Service to Germany, Czechoslovakia (or Bohemia), and Danzig has been suspended by the U. S. Post Office Department. It announced it was forced to take this action because of the disruption of transportation to these countries. Postmasters have been instructed to refuse to accept parcel-post packages to these places.

British dealers complain that their supplies are being badly disrupted. One Briton writes in the "Philatelic Journal of Great Britain":

"The present international situation is already having its effect upon supplies of new issues. Difficulties both in the matter of import and export are so great that British dealers are finding themselves very short of many recently issued stamps from all parts."

"Today a permit has to be obtained to export to all Continental countries, except France, but the chief difficulty is that one has to get permission to pay for imports. Almost all European and other agents are increasing their charges because of the additional trouble and expenses they are having. This is bound to be passed on to the collector."

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Man Meets Wife

Charlotte, N. C.—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Phillips came to town and bought a new car. They started home in separate automobiles. When! Bam! An accident. Phillips stepped out of one car. Mrs. Phillips out of the other.

Dodging Machine Age

Allentown, Pa.—Two quiet old couples in Lehigh Valley celebrated wedding anniversaries; one broke a precedent, and the other didn't.

Cyrus Marsh, 85, and his wife, 82, who never have been in a movie theatre, observed their 65th wedding anniversary today—without seeing a movie. But Lusingus Schneek, 84, and his wife, 85, observed their 64th anniversary yesterday by talking on a telephone for the first time.

Information, Please

Ada, Okla.—The Ada Evening News has asked advance obituary information from residents who plan to celebrate Thanksgiving by drinking and driving. "We need your cooperation," a front page notice said. "After the accident you cannot give us the information, and your friends will be looking for it."

Squirrel

Eastland, Tex.—Deputy Sheriff L. A. White invited Sheriff Loss Woods and four others to a roast squirrel dinner. When they had picked the bones, with gusto, White told them—they had eaten a armadillo.

Did You Hear....?

Omaha, Neb.—Notes from the neighbors in Nebraska:

Tom Langan's barn burned down near Wood river, next his house burned, then his daughter required an emergency appendectomy.

Sheriff Carl Ryder of Otero county is taking care of the children of a mother who is away, also a horse and other belongings of Herman Meyerhoff, hospitalized with auto crash injuries.

Police Capt. Frank Rose of Omaha says his new green fedora hat disappeared during choir practice.

Grade school youngsters at Benkelman formed a bucket brigade and had a fire at Mrs. Bonnie Angell's home almost subdued by the time the firemen arrived.

The mayor of Beatrice announced with pride that for the first time in history the local jail is free of bed bugs.

ALLIGERVILLE

Alligerville, Nov. 28—Thanksgiving passed quietly in this village. Among those who came home to enjoy the day were Virginia Smith of New York at her home, Dr. DeWitt and family of New Paltz, Mr. and Mrs. Edward DeWitt of Kingston and Miss Ethel Beatty of Stone Ridge at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeWitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brooks celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary at their home last Monday. There were several callers and many messages of congratulation. Their many friends extend sincere good wishes for many more happy returns of the day.

Mrs. Rose Witter of Kingston, spent the holiday and week-end with her cousins, Mrs. Hoar and Miss Jennie Hoar.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Christiansa, who were married recently and will make their home in Alligerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Evans of Albany spent Sunday at the Evans home.

Mrs. Smith has moved the post office to a room in her home. This change is just for the winter season because of illness in the family.

Mrs. Ida DeGroot entertained over the Thanksgiving season the following people: Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and children, Betty, Bobby and Margaret, of Gardiner, Mrs. Arthur Cross and children, Mrs. Anna Burgher and Mrs. Edna Burgher and son, Mrs. George Decker, Mrs. Henry Decker and Helen Hendrickson, all of Kenilworth; Mrs. Hasbrouck Decker and Mrs. Frank Haines of St. Remy and Sam Rosen and Mr. and Mrs. Abe Crane of Alligerville.

Miss Dorothy Brooks and aunt, Mrs. Dickhout, of Kingston, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Battelle and mother, Mrs. Baggs, of Cottekill, were callers in the village Thursday evening.

Fifteen thousand militiamen had to be called out to suppress the whiskey insurrection which broke out in western Pennsylvania when the authorities attempted to end illicit distillation.

The itching and smarting stopped, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous. 35c a box, all druggists, 60c in tube with applicator. Money back if not delighted.—Adv.

Millions of sufferers in the last 30 years have found a way to get quick relief from the itching and smarting of piles. They use a delightful cooling, soothing and astringent formula—Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting stopped, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous. 35c a box, all druggists, 60c in tube with applicator. Money back if not delighted.—Adv."

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Nov. 28.—The Odd Fellows' annual Thanksgiving oyster supper, held Wednesday evening at the Olive Bridge Hall, was successful, although the attendance showed a falling off from last year. Approximately $22 was netted.

The Rev. Frank Bailey delivered a Sunday afternoon sermon on the origin and history of Thanksgiving Day in America. Mrs. Chase Davis presided at the organ and Mrs. Oliver Tweedy assisted in the choir singing.

Harry Jordan of Roxbury was a visitor here Sunday, having dinner at the home of his sister, Mrs. Morlon Roe at West Shokan Heights.

Francis Whispell was called back to the WPA Watson Hollow road project Friday.

Mrs. Fanny Boice of Lackawack spent the week-end at her Main street residence. Judge and Mrs. Henry Winchell of Sunny Cliff Farm visited Friday evening with their Samsonville Heights neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. George Van Kleeck. Edmund C. Burgher shot a large red fox while deer hunting. Miss Ollie Burgher of West Shokan Heights is entertaining a brief visit from her eldest brother, Virgil Burgher, who arrived Sunday afternoon from Asbury Park, N. J. During the evening they called on their brother, Ben, and wife, in Mt Tremper.

Cards are being received from Mr. and Mrs. James Burgher of Maple Dell Farm, who are enjoying their annual vacation trip. James Harrison and Harold Constable of West Shokan Heights made a recent business trip to Kingston.

L. C. Davis has covered both the old and new sections of his chicken house with novelty siding and is putting on a priming coat of red paint. Mrs. Addie Kelder and son, Raymond, spent Thanksgiving with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Bruckner, and family in West Hurley. Claude Bell's new house foundation and grading work on Conductor Albert North. Larry Kelder had the town shovel employed three days excavating for a swimming pool and doing drainage work. Saturday the shovel was moved into Miss Ollie Burgher's shale quarry and hauling on the upper graded section of the Watson Hollow WPA Shoppers to the Dellwood Dairy Company's plant in Kysenike received monthly milk checks Friday. Considerably higher than last month the average price paid to producers for October milk was at $233 per cwt. for 35 milk. Hauling charges of 30 cents per hundred and $200 for veterinarian inspection of herds were deducted from checks. Larry Kelder spent the week-end at his West Shokan Heights estate. Mrs. Charles Gustafson is recovering from her recent illness. School work was resumed Monday morning after the long Thanksgiving week-end vacation. The West Shokan school is now operating with an all-time low of seven pupils. Wednesday the Ladies' Aid Society will resume its weekly all-day church quiltings. Luncheon will be served and visitors are welcome.

Too Silent Oracles

Austin, Tex. (AP)—Two-thirds of American college students believe college newspapers are manned by staffs sufficiently mature to take intelligent editorial stands upon national and international questions. The discovery was made in a poll taken by Student Opinion Surveys, intercollegiate sounding board of student thought published at the University of Texas.

Curse of a Conscience

Houston, Tex. (AP)—"I want to surrender," said a mid-eyed, middle-aged fellow who walked up to Traffic Patrolman J. E. Armstrong. Armstrong eyed him carefully for earmarks of the criminal. "What you wanted for?" he said skeptically. "Traffic tickets," said the man, soberly. Armstrong went with him to the police station where he paid for five over-parking transgressions.

Marseilles, famous French seaport, is the oldest city in Europe. It was formerly called Masaba.

Concert Here Friday

The Headliners Male Quartet of Albany, which will appear here Friday evening at the Fair Street Reformed Church under the auspices of the Married Women's Club, have assisted the Mendelssohn Club of Albany annually in its choir since Mark Andrews has assumed the leadership of the club. They have for years assisted the Niagara-Hudson combined choral clubs as guest artists on their programs. The quartet is also known as the "choir singers of Albany for sacred music" and as such have been the assisting artists for the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal churches for the past three years in Saratoga Springs. The members are also well known among the Burns clubs of the Albany area for their Scottish interpretations. The group has also appeared before many other groups in the Albany area. Tickets for the concert may be obtained from Mrs. Reynold Becker, the Y. W. C. A. or at the door the night of the concert. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

Revue to Be Shown As Television Scene

The title of the Junior League Revue is "Televisions of 1939". Just as a television machine brings to its audience events that are happening in another place, so this revue will present life at a place known as "Kingsworth Manor". On the night of December 8 at the municipal auditorium, the voice of Albert Milliken as the announcer and Miss Ann Herzog as the society reporter will introduce the scenes that take place upon the stage.

The first scene will represent an afternoon party at the country club, where many of the principal characters of this production will be found. Among these will be Mrs. Newton Fessenden and Gertrude Betz and Mrs. Alan Hainstein and Harry Pearson, parents of a prospective bride and groom.

In a sophisticated and witty gathering will be found many beautiful gowns. Some of these will be described by the society reporter who will also comment on the newest points of interest in fashions of today. The wedding ceremony will be one of the highlights of the social events in the romantic story of this revue. Complete in every detail this affair will be most beautiful. Lovely full skirted gowns and matching accessories in harmonizing colors will be worn by the attendants. The bride will wear a satin dress featuring a tiny waist. Flower girls and ring bearers will be members of the younger set. Dr. Sanger Carleton will represent the officiating clergyman.

Cleverly interwoven among these impressive events will be skits wherein the announcer will give his sponsors an opportunity to humor themselves. Leo Herbert, impersonating an all-American football hero, will give his reactions to a fictitious product, to the detriment of the concern.

The action of the "Televisions of 1939" will move as quickly as that in a television machine and the announcer will not lose a minute between presenting the programs of the various sponsors. Tickets for the fashion show deluxe combined with a satirical treatment of today's radio programs may be obtained from any member of the league or by telephoning 2771.

Highland Publisher Weds

Highland, Nov. 27 -- The marriage of Miss Alice Marie Gethings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gethings to Harold Conn Berman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berman of Marlborough, took place at 9 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Augustine Church, Highland. The Rev. Gregory Mullin officiated at a nuptial mass. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin gown, with fitted waist line and full sleeves, with a long veil. She carried a prayer book and rosary marked with sweet peas.

The attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Sarah Gethings, who wore a gown of aqua taffeta with ribboned accessories and carried a bouquet of bronze colored chrysanthemums. Frank Berman was his brother's best man. Francis Gethings, brother of the bride and Richard Donovan were the ushers. The reception following the ceremony was for members of both families and was held at Pink Rose Inn.

Mr. Berman and his bride left for a motor trip to Vermont and on their return Sunday night went to their newly furnished apartment in the Harvey Travel House on the Milton road. Mrs. Berman graduated from the local high school and last June from the New Paltz Normal School. Mr. Berman attended the Marlborough schools and is now owner and publisher of The Highland News.

Harris-Houghtaling

Miss Viola Houghtaling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Houghtaling of Port Ewen, and Vincent J. Harris, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Harris of 57 Foxhall avenue, were married at St. Mary's rectory on Sunday, October 22, by the Rev. Benjamin Roth. They were attended by Miss Elaine Short and James Evers.

Special Music Club Meeting

The Musical Society will meet this evening at 8:15 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William Macgregor Mills on the Stone Ridge road to study recordings of the Beethoven "Fifth Symphony" and the Liszt concerto. These numbers will be played December 13 by the National Symphony orchestra at the second Cooperative Concert program of the season.

Celebrated Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Craig of 88 Washington avenue celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Monday. Six couples gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Keger on Lindenman avenue to fête Mr. and Mrs. Craig and then proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Donald Lane on Mountain View avenue for dinner. The rest of the evening was spent at the Craig residence. Others attending the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Joyce, Dr. and Mrs. Chester B. Van Gansbeek and Mr. and Mrs. William Macgregor Mills.

Artist Reads Paper at Club

Miss Emily D. B. Hoysradt read a paper on "Color: the Language of the Artist" at the regular meeting of Athabasca held Tuesday afternoon at her home on West Chester street. She explained how color is transferred to the eye, and emphasized the fact that no two individuals, not even artists, will see the same identical colors in any given scene. She also explained how an artist mixes colors and how the colors are used to produce desired effects, illustrating with her own paintings. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Henry F. Dunbar at her home in Hurley.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burnett of Connelly announce the engagement of their daughter, Violet Ida, to Oswald La Fontaine, son of Captain and Mrs. Arthur La Fontaine of Champlain.

Current Events Group to Meet

The Current Events group of the College Women's Club will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Irwin L. Jennings, 172 Main street.

Auxiliary County Meeting

The Ulster county committee of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the American Legion Building on O'Reilly street. Miss Ann Henninger of Ellenville, county chairman, will preside. Mrs. Cora B. Edwards, district chairman, and Marian E. Miller, secretary, will be the guest speakers. Members of Kingston unit will entertain the county. A large attendance is expected. Refreshments and dancing will follow the meeting.

Missionary Society to Meet

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Dutch Church will hold its regular meeting on Friday, December 1, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. C. L. Palmer will conduct the devotional services and Miss Ella Bernard will talk on "Lights Against the Shadows."

Personal Notes

The Misses Stella and Olga Bellini of 23 Purvis street spent the week-end in New York city. Mrs. N. LeVan Haver of Main street is spending a few days in New York city.

Eugene Mentnech, a student at Clarkson College of Technology, has returned to school after spending Thanksgiving vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Mentnech of Albany avenue.

Suppers-Food Sales

The Port Ewen P.T.A. food sale will be held at Spinnys Saturday afternoon, December 2. The sale will open at 2 p. m. and contributions from members of the P.T.A. and their friends will be appreciated. Contributions may be left at the home of the chairman, Mrs. J. G. Reynolds, or at Spinnys. Proceeds of this sale will be used for the children's Christmas party. The patronage of the public will be greatly appreciated.

Practical Meaning of "Entree"
Dear Mrs. Post: Please tell me just what an entree is.

Answer: Literally it means "something brought into the meal." That is, it is neither soup, roast nor salad, but a hot dish brought in between one of these courses or used as a substitute for the fish or the roast. It is usually a made-up dish such as mousses, or a vol-au-vent or croquette or sweetbreads. At lunch it often takes the place of the meat.

Artificial Flowers
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me today's attitude toward artificial flowers. Of course, I mean really lovely imitations. I'm as hesitant about using them as I am about imitation jewelry. I have always managed to have fresh flowers, but in this day it's often a choice between fresh flowers or food, and there is only one answer to that.

Answer: I don't know why there should ever have been a prejudice against artificial flowers and costume jewelry. Probably because both have very little real beauty. Today, both are so beautiful that to ban either would be to cling to prejudice at the expense of effective decoration. Artificial flowers should, however, be used intelligently and only to accent an essential color note which cannot otherwise be introduced, exactly as costume jewelry adds brilliancy to the design of a dress. Flowers of cotton or silk or other fabric, which perfectly imitate real ones, are still taboo, as is also too perfectly imitated fruit as dining-table decoration. These should be real or else unmistakably table ornaments of silver, or china, or glass, or of similar substance.

Speaking to the Maid
Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening our guests had arrived with my husband and had therefore not been let in by the maid, who was busy in the kitchen. So when the maid appeared in the dining-room to wait on the table, Mrs. Visitor said, "Good evening, Julia." To which Julia replied, "Good evening, Mrs. Visitor." I thought this was very bad judgment on the part of Mrs. Visitor to speak to the maid when she was waiting on the table.

Answer: It is quite all right to say briefly in a low tone "Good evening, Julia" (or whatever the maid's name) when she stands by one's side. Then she answers, "Good evening, madam," in a low tone, scarcely audible, or she merely smiles and bows slightly.

Paper Cups and Plates

Dear Mrs. Post: Would gold-trimmed paper plates and cups be in poor taste at a large gold wedding celebration? We are having a great many people and it would not only be difficult to get sufficient china for this one occasion, but we thought carrying out the color motif would be nicer than using a motley collection of plates and cups.

Answer: I think it might be very pretty.

Group to Give Religious Play

On Sunday evening, December 3, at 7:30 o'clock, a religious drama entitled "Whom Jesus Loved" will be given at the service at St. James Methodist Church. The play was written by Lydia Glover De Seo and is based on the New Testament. It takes place at the home of John, the beloved disciple, shortly after the resurrection of Jesus.

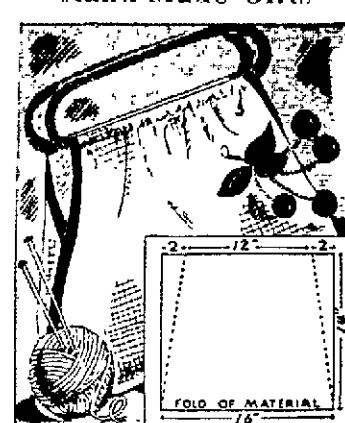

Those taking part are Clayton Myer, Shirley Phillips, Jean Balcrook, Peggy Chasey and Bill Kinch.

The play is being sponsored by the Senior Epworth League, an organization of high school young people. New officers will be installed at a candle service preceding the play.

Officers of the Philanthropian Club, an organization of young people over 18 years of age, will also be installed at this service. A silver offering will be taken. Everyone is welcome.

Delight Friends with Hand-Made Gifts

Easy to Make Gay Knitting Bag

A handsome knitting bag of monk's cloth, gay with bobbing cherries—and fun to make!

Cut both sides of bag in one piece, first making a simple paper pattern for one side.

You cut your paper 11 by 16 inches. Then from each top corner measure in 2 inches and draw a diagonal line from that point to nearest bottom corner—as our diagram shows. Now your pattern measures 16 inches at bottom, 12 at top, 14 on each side.

Seam up sides to within 6 inches of top. Making lining of green satin and bind edges with green satin bias. Whip on green satin for leaves, use large red ball buttons for cherries, brown floss for stems. Let cherries hang loose. Two embroidery hoops wrapped tightly with green bias form a smart handle—and your bag is finished!

Other Christmas presents? You still have time to make many of the delightful gifts described in our 32-page booklet. Gives complete directions with diagrams for novelty pillows, a bathroom utility box, a dressing table, a decorated toy chest, telephone cases for plates and lingerie—and many more.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of HAND-MADE GIFT NOVELTIES to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and the NAME of booklet.

Teacher-Pupil Cooperation

La Junta, Colo. (AP)—High school home economics students wanted to "go goldfish gulpers one better" so they caught a rattlesnake and ate it. Three high school teachers, one a woman, joined the class in a "snake steak" meal after the rattler was skinned and cooked. They said the meat "tasted swell."

Preacher to Tell Of Mission Work

A lecture on mission work among the Chinese of New York city will be delivered by the Rev. Louis T. Buchheimer in the parish hall of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street Thursday evening, November 30, at 7:30 o'clock. An interesting and educational description of the Chinese people, their customs, food, life and religion, will be presented.

The Rev. Mr. Buchheimer has charge of the True Light Lutheran Sunday School and Church in the heart of New York's Chinatown and tells a gripping story of his stirring activities in that quarter. The usual offering will be taken up. The public is invited to attend.

Status of Milton Fire District Is Held as Doubtful

that at the time of its formation a copy of the records of the formation, including a copy of the petition, action of the town board and other matters including the resolution authorizing the formation of the Special Fire District never was recorded in the office of the county clerk.

Under the town law relative to the formation of a fire district there is a provision that the record shall be filed with the town clerk of the town or towns in which the district lies and also that a copy shall be filed in the office of the county clerk by the town clerk. A copy of the record filed with the town clerk of the Town of Marlborough apparently never found its way to the county clerk's office since no record seems to be in that office.

There has been much speculation in some circles as to just what legal effect this may have on the law suits now pending and also on the criminal action which is pending against the driver of the fire truck on that fateful day last June when the truck went out of control, struck a passing car and then went over a bank and was wrecked after fatally injuring two persons. Investigation by police officials disclosed that there had been no fire and it was held by police that the truck was not engaged in responding to a call for assistance in fighting a fire at the time it was wrecked. The trip was classified by police who investigated as "apparently a joy-ride." Chief Thiel was also badly injured but recovered.

Sharp Rise in Wheat Markets

An agreement reached late last night between officials of the Chrysler Co. and the UAW (CIO union), brought settlement of the longest labor battle in the automotive industry. The agreement provides for a new contract to replace the one which expired September 30, six days before the beginning of the dispute just ended and which continued for 54 days. Terms of the agreement will be made public after ratification by the rank and file of the union, for which purpose it is understood that mass meetings would be called at once.

Car loadings last week were off more than seasonally from the previous week it is estimated, but the railroad executives stated yesterday that they expected revenue freight traffic for the next two months to continue at levels above those of a year ago. The usual year-end tapering off, due to holidays and other seasonal factors is looked for, but no slowing up of business throughout the country is expected.

Wheat markets rose sharply yesterday in broad trading as foreign consumers entered the market. Great Britain is reported to have taken upwards of 8,000,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat and 750,000 bushels of U. S. corn. It is estimated that altogether around 10,000,000 bushels of grain were purchased in the U. S. and Canada. At Winnipeg wheat was up 1 1/2 to 2 1/4 cents a bushel and Chicago closed 1/2 to 1 1/4 cents a bushel higher. Corn advanced 1/4 to 1/2 cent a bushel.

Led by grains, commodity prices moved upward, with the futures index making a new high for the move and although there was a recession in late trading the Dow-Jones index was up .25 point for the day. Cotton closed two to nine points higher. Silk futures advanced 2 1/2 to 8 cents a pound. Leading cane sugar refiners yesterday again topped the price 10 points, to 4.70 cents a pound, which is 1.05 cents a pound under the high attained in September. The latest spot sales of raw sugar were on a basis of 2.95 cents a pound, duty paid.

FHA field reports and applications for mortgage insurance indicate that residential building during the winter will be at the highest seasonal level in over ten years.

On the New York Exchange stocks opened firm Tuesday, made further gains and then in the afternoon started downward and with most activity in the final hour of trading the list again showed losses for the day, although changes were not important. Industrials in the Dow-Jones list lost .28 point for the day, to close at 148.31; rails declined .01, to 321.85 and utilities lost .05, to 25.35. In early trading U. S. Steel went up to 69 1/2, but the rise petered out and close was at 67 1/2. Volume was 620,000 shares.

Norfolk and Western R. R. directors yesterday voted $5 extra on the common stock, bringing total dividends for the year to $15 a share compared with $13 in 1938. Wisconsin Public Service Corporation yesterday voted payments of $3.50, $3.25 and $3 a share on preferred stock issues, clearing up arrearsages on preferred and clearing the way for payments on common.

Commonwealth & Southern reports profit of $1,063,523 for October vs. $991,188 in the same month last year. Directors voted 75 cents on the $6 preferred; similar amounts were paid in the previous quarters.

Greyhound Corp. pays regular dividend of 25 cents and extra of 50 cents.

Other Cases
Melvin Eckert of Esopus was arraigned before the court by District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and Assistant District Attorney James G. Connelly as the first defendant. Eckert had previously pleaded not guilty to burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry but changed his plea to guilty to burglary in the second degree. He waived his two days' detention and was sentenced to one year in the county jail and that sentence was suspended during good behavior and he was placed on probation to Probation Officer Robert Service and will report Thursday.

The case of The People vs. Joseph Laffey went over the term.

Disorderly House
Elizabeth Bennett, charged with keeping a disorderly house on West Strand, pleaded guilty to maintaining a public nuisance. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for her. On her plea to the second count in the indictment Judge Imman imposed a $300 fine or one day in jail for each dollar of the fine unpaid. She will receive credit for some 30 days which she has already served.

In accepting the plea of guilty to maintaining a nuisance Judge Imman said that it was the desire of the Ulster county officials to stamp out the type of business she was engaged in and one of the conditions imposed in sentencing Mrs. Bennett was that she shake the dust of Ulster county from her feet.

"I am going to aid the Ulster county authorities in eliminating the type of traffic you have been engaged in and in imposing this fine I am also going to suspend the execution of the balance of the sentence on condition you leave this county with one week." As an afterthought, apparently, Judge Imman added, "and stay out of Columbia county."

He recessed the court until 2 o'clock December 20.

Sharp Rise in Wheat Markets

An agreement reached late last night between officials of the Chrysler Co. and the UAW (CIO union), brought settlement of the longest labor battle in the automotive industry. The agreement provides for a new contract to replace the one which expired September 30, six days before the beginning of the dispute just ended and which continued for 54 days. Terms of the agreement will be made public after ratification by the rank and file of the union, for which purpose it is understood that mass meetings would be called at once.

Car loadings last week were off more than seasonally from the previous week it is estimated, but the railroad executives stated yesterday that they expected revenue freight traffic for the next two months to continue at levels above those of a year ago. The usual year-end tapering off, due to holidays and other seasonal factors is looked for, but no slowing up of business throughout the country is expected.

Wheat markets rose sharply yesterday in broad trading as foreign consumers entered the market. Great Britain is reported to have taken upwards of 8,000,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat and 750,000 bushels of U. S. corn. It is estimated that altogether around 10,000,000 bushels of grain were purchased in the U. S. and Canada. At Winnipeg wheat was up 1 1/2 to 2 1/4 cents a bushel and Chicago closed 1/2 to 1 1/4 cents a bushel higher. Corn advanced 1/4 to 1/2 cent a bushel.

Led by grains, commodity prices moved upward, with the futures index making a new high for the move and although there was a recession in late trading the Dow-Jones index was up .25 point for the day. Cotton closed two to nine points higher. Silk futures advanced 2 1/2 to 8 cents a pound. Leading cane sugar refiners yesterday again topped the price 10 points, to 4.70 cents a pound, which is 1.05 cents a pound under the high attained in September. The latest spot sales of raw sugar were on a basis of 2.95 cents a pound, duty paid.

FHA field reports and applications for mortgage insurance indicate that residential building during the winter will be at the highest seasonal level in over ten years.

On the New York Exchange stocks opened firm Tuesday, made further gains and then in the afternoon started downward and with most activity in the final hour of trading the list again showed losses for the day, although changes were not important. Industrials in the Dow-Jones list lost .28 point for the day, to close at 148.31; rails declined .01, to 321.85 and utilities lost .05, to 25.35. In early trading U. S. Steel went up to 69 1/2, but the rise petered out and close was at 67 1/2. Volume was 620,000 shares.

Norfolk and Western R. R. directors yesterday voted $5 extra on the common stock, bringing total dividends for the year to $15 a share compared with $13 in 1938. Wisconsin Public Service Corporation yesterday voted payments of $3.50, $3.25 and $3 a share on preferred stock issues, clearing up arrearsages on preferred and clearing the way for payments on common.

Commonwealth & Southern reports profit of $1,063,523 for October vs. $991,188 in the same month last year. Directors voted 75 cents on the $6 preferred; similar amounts were paid in the previous quarters.

Greyhound Corp. pays regular dividend of 25 cents and extra of 50 cents.

Sedran Seeks Win For Claim on 2nd Place in League

D'Brien Says Loop Strongest in 10 Years—Reiser and Kaplan Among High Scorers

Kingston plays the first of its two American Basketball League games this week with Troy at the upstate team's court tonight. The second will be held at the Municipal Auditorium here Friday night, starting at 9:15 o'clock.

Manager Barney Sedran is doubly anxious about tonight's game, in order that his club may bolster its stocks before the home contest at the auditorium. Right now the Sedranites are in a four-way tie for second place with Baltimore, the Jewels and Wilkes-Barre Barons.

Commenting on the American League, as one of the best in the past 10 years, President John J. O'Brien wrote as follows:

"The Jersey Reds were ousted from a tie for first place with Philadelphia Spas during the past week in the American Basketball League through two defeats sustained at the hands of Kingston and Troy. Philadelphia lost to Baltimore but won at home from Washington. Baltimore annexed a close one from Troy away from home, giving the Clippers three consecutive wins. Wilkes-Barre kept close to the top by a victory over Troy, while the Jewels took a one-pointers from Kingston, which contest resulted in a protest by the latter club, to be acted upon at a meeting next week.

"Nat Frankel of Kingston has been suspended for failure to report.

Well Balanced

"The strength displayed by all members of the American Basketball League to this point of the campaign evidences the best balance throughout the circuit for the past ten years. No game can be considered a breather, as proof of which is the ability of teams to win consistently on the road. Out of the first 20 games played, ten have been credited to the home clubs and ten to the visiting clubs."

Jersey Ranks 1st For Best Boxers

New Jersey is taking the place of California in supplying main event fighters for the Madison

Square Garden ring in New York.

It wasn't so long ago that almost every boxing program scheduled at the Garden was headed by a

Max Baer, a Fred Apostoli, by

Celestino Garcia, Henry Armstrong, Lou Nova.

Today New Jersey is replacing

California in the production of topnotchers. The last show at the Garden saw Gus Lesnevich of Cliffs Park, N. J., opposing

Billy Conn in a world light-heavyweight title match. On December 15, at the Garden, Tippy Larkin of Garfield, faces Al Davis in a 10-round match with Patrick

Edward Combsky, of Paterson, meeting Steve Dudas, of Edgewater, on the same card.

And then, Friday night at the Garden, little Alie Stolz, classy young featherweight from

Newark, headlines a Garden program, opposing Percy Scalzo, of

New York's West Side, in a match listed for 10 rounds.

Perhaps it is the abundance of crack young fighters which makes

New Jersey the most rabid boxing state in the Union today.

Stolz has been a main event fighter in Newark rings for some time and only the other night

drew a big crowd for his meeting with Texas Lee Harper, whom

Stolz knocked out in six rounds.

The clash between Stolz and Scalzo is a "natural" between two youngsters who are rapidly nearing the throne room. Now their paths cross and one must make way for the other. Their encounter had originally been set for December 22 but was moved up to

Friday night to replace the Armstrong-Ambers bout which had to

The Brooklynite made things interesting for the ex-light-heavy-

Deer Season Will End on Thursday

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP).—New York's deer hunters will put away their guns tomorrow, apparently equally divided over popularity of this year's late Adirondack season.

Last year, there were really three state deer seasons, so a hunter whose marksmanship was off at first could attempt to recoup later. The Adirondack season was from October 15 to November 15—two weeks earlier than this year's—that in the Catskills December 1-15, and in Broome, Corland and Steuben counties, December 1-7.

But this year the guns stop blazing in all three sections at once—5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Deer have been ducking a month in the Adirondacks, since November 15 in the Catskill area and since November 24 in the nine southern tier counties. How many of them were shot will not be recorded for a while, since hunters have five days after the season ends to turn in their record-stubs.

Natives of the Adirondacks apparently favor the earlier season opening while many transient hunters like the later date. Natives figure they are deprived of revenue because the season now comes when snow is on the ground. City hunters, they say, cannot withstand near-zero temperatures.

Transient hunters feel that, with some tenderfoot out of the woods, there are fewer deer killed and fewer accidents. Hunting conditions in the Adirondacks have been better in general, the state conservation department says, because, with foliage gone and the woods damper, it has been quieter, with greater visibility and less fire danger.

Most of this year's shooting mishaps have been accidental discharges, with few caused by mistaking men for animals. Hunters have slipped on logs and stumped over stones, but only one man is listed so far as having been killed for a deer, another was killed for a fox.

YMHA to Convene At Poughkeepsie

The Poughkeepsie Jewish Center will be host to the 24th annual convention of the New York State Federation of Young Men's Hebrew Association, Young Women's Hebrew Association and Jewish Community Centers December 2 and 3, according to plans disclosed yesterday.

Discussion of the forces operating for and against democracy will be the central theme of the weekend conference. It is expected that between 200 and 300 delegates from all sections of the state will attend.

Among the prominent persons who will participate in the program are Helen Hadassah Levinthal, New York, who has the distinction of being the only woman to have graduated from a recognized rabbinical school; Dr. Frank Kingdon, president of Newark University, and Charles W. Rathchild, New York director of publicity for the American Jewish Congress.

The registration of delegates will begin at 7 o'clock this evening, followed by a reception and dance. At 9 p. m. there will be a meeting of the executive board of the federation, as well as sessions of the various executive directors of Jewish Centers in the state. Another business session will be conducted at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning, December 3, at which time reports of convention committees will be received and officers selected for next year.

Work for Diz
Chicago, Nov. 29 (AP).—Owner P. K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs has decided that the Chicago Cubs will take the miseries out of Dizzy Dean's $185,000 pitching arm.

Wrigley said he was convinced of Diz's sore right flipper was healed and that he would be expected to start pitching himself into shape for the 1940 campaign as soon as the Cubs land on Catalina Island next March for spring training.

Luncheon Is Enjoyed
Darlington, S. C., Nov. 29 (AP).—Deputy Sheriff Gene Miller led officers on a hunt for whisky stills. They found one, just abandoned. The operators had beat a fast retreat as the officers approached. They left their lunch behind. The officers ate it.

Santa Asks Children To Compose Letters

Santa Claus paid a hurried visit to Kingston today to make arrangements for opening a postoffice for Christmas in the city hall where children desiring to write him may address their letters. He was successful.

As a result the patron saint of childhood is urging all children to write him. In doing so address the letter "Santa Claus, City Hall, Kingston, N. Y." and be sure to write your name and address plainly and also to give your age.

These letters will reach Santa Claus promptly and will be given due consideration. As the holiday season is but a few weeks away children who plan to write Santa should do so at once.

Christmas Cheer Committee Meets To Outline Plans

Santa Claus' Christmas Cheer Committee met on Tuesday afternoon in the mayor's office at the city hall to formulate plans for taking care of some 1,500 children in the city who might otherwise be overlooked Christmas Day.

Last Christmas the committee, with the aid of public spirited citizens of the city, took care of some 1,700 children.

Mrs. Harry E. Walker, chairman of the committee, presided. Others who attended were Mrs. Stanley Matthews, co-chairman, Mrs. C. J. Heistman, treasurer, and the heads of the various committees.

Mrs. Matthews is chairman of the purchasing committee, and will be assisted by Mrs. A. Noble Graham, Mrs. Harry R. LeFever and Mrs. J. N. Stock.

Miss Gertrude Dempsey and Mrs. Frank Burr are in charge of the toy committee; Mrs. Allan L. Hanstein is chairman of the candy committee; Miss Mary Ingalls of the fruit committee; Mrs. Christopher Roche of the clothing committee, and Miss M. Jean Estey of the distributing committee.

Send in Dolls
Residents of the city who have dolls that they plan to give for distribution and which are in need of repairs or clothing, should get in touch with Miss Dempsey or Mrs. Burr and the dolls will be called for. A committee of young women have planned to meet weekly and sew clothing for the dolls to be distributed, and it is hoped to start this work as quickly as possible.

To Collect Toys
Members of the police department will make house to house calls downtown to solicit gifts of old or new toys while the fire department will canvass the uptown section of the city. The same plan as adopted in previous seasons will again be in effect.

The toys that are donated that need to be reconditioned will be taken to Santa Claus workshop in the Central Fire Station, where the firemen and volunteer workers will again make them as good as new.

None to Be Forgotten
The committee as usual is planning so that no child in the city will be forgotten on Christmas Day. After the gifts are ready they will be assembled in the municipal auditorium, where willing workers will pack the Christmas boxes and bags and deliveries will be made by the city fire trucks as well as trucks of the board of public works.

The job that the committee faces is a big one and every resident in the city is urged to do his or her part in making Christmas a joyful day for the children.

Shirley Enrolls
Hollywood, Nov. 29 (AP).—To gain the association of girls of her own age, ten-year-old screen star Shirley Temple has enrolled in the seventh grade of a private school. Shirley's education heretofore has been through private tutors in her Santa Monica home and on movie lots between scenes.

Her mother, Mrs. George Temple, felt it was time for her daughter to widen her personal friendships. The school isn't far from the Temple home, but Shirley will be driven to and from classes by her chauffeur-bodyguard. When she is engaged in a picture her private tutor will take up the work.

Annulment Order Signed by Judge

Justice Harry E. Schirick has signed an order granting the annulment of the marriage of Charles E. Baxter to Violet Baxter, of Newburgh. The action for annulment was tried at a special session of Supreme Court in November and was brought by plaintiff on the grounds of fraud on the part of the defendant. Michael Nardone appeared for the plaintiff.

Plaintiff claims that at the time he married the defendant, she agreed to give up her job, and make a home for him but that since their marriage in Newburgh on December 18, 1938, she has refused to leave her mother's home and maintain her own home as she promised. The decree, which is interlocutory, is filed in the county clerk's office.

Driver Arrested After Car Is Hit

Pleading not guilty when arraigned in police court today Cornelius DeWitt, 41, a negro of Hurley, had his hearing on a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated, adjourned to December 8. He was represented in court by Attorney Louis G. Bruhn.

DeWitt was arrested Tuesday evening by Harry Lewis, who lodged the charge against DeWitt. It is alleged that DeWitt struck the parked automobile owned by Miss Anna Weisman, while the Weisman car was on Green street.

Mr. Lewis heard the sound of the crash and gave chase, overhauling DeWitt a short distance away.
